WASHINGTON WINS TODAY BY 7 TO 4 SCORE

SENATORS COME BACK WITH A LOAD OF DYNAMITE

HIT THREE PITCHERS OF THE NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS FREELY

GOOSEY GOSLIN STARTS THE FIREWORKS WITH A HOMER

By HENRY L. FARRELL
Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 7.—Coming back with a load of dynamite, the Washington Senators blew up the New York Giants and won the fourth game of the world series here this afternoon by a score of 7 to 4.

Before a crowd that approached yesterday's record of 50,000 the Senators caught up on the Giants and hit three pitchers freely.

From the third inning on when Goosey Goslin hit a homer with two on the Senators were in command. They were threatened in the eighth and ninth by dying Giant rallies and they had to call on Fred Marberry, champion relief pitcher of baseball.

Marberry, who has appeared in three games of the series, was rushed in and he delivered as he has delivered all season.

George Mogridge, Washington's southpaw, had the Giants completely fooled with a wide, sweeping curve until the eighth inning. He had held the National league champions to three hits when he lost control in the eighth and passed Young and Meusel after getting Kelly on a long fly.

With two men on and one down Marberry was called in to face Miller and stop the rally. Jackson doubled to right and scored Young. Meusel tried for third but was out on a beautiful rally, Rice to Harris to Ruel. The fancy rescue his team mates gave him put new confidence in Harris and he got Jackson for the third out on an easy chance.

In the ninth inning Hank Gowdy singled and went around to third on a freak play. Rice's throw to second hit Gowdy on the leg and the ball rolled to the stands, allowing Hank to hobble around to third.

Young Lindstrom, who had singled three times in four times up, scored Gowdy with a line drive too hot for Harris to handle.

Frisch walked and the Senators gathered around Marberry but he waved them away. Young forced Frisch at second on a close play and Lindstrom went to third. Kelly made the third out.

The Senators, after Goosey Goslin had given them three in the third inning, worked on Barnes in the fifth inning for two more runs.

McNeely singled and dashed to third on Harris' single. McNeely went home and Harris went to second on a wild pitch by Barnes. Gowdy then came up and brought in Harris with a single. The Senators got two more in the eighth inning. The Washington club, which looked so dull yesterday behind terrible pitching, had new life and dash today, even with Peck, their star shortstop, out of the game. Bucky Harris with two sensational stops and throws, saved Mogridge in the seventh when the tall southpaw was threatened for the first time.

Throughout the game, the work of the Washington manager at second was almost as brilliant as Frisch's marvelous exhibition in yesterday's game.

The Giant pitchers were all ineffective. Barnes, who started, was not effective, and his successors were also hit freely.

SENATORS UP FOR LAST STAND BATTLE

New York, Oct. 7.—In desperate need of another game to get back into the running for the championship, the Washington Senators drew up today for a last stand battle with the New York Giants in the fourth game of the World Series.

Dropping two out of three games and with much of their punch gone, the Senators were in serious straits.

CAPTAIN OF GLOBE GIRDERS IS TO BE PROMOTED

(By United Press)
Dayton, O., Oct. 7.—The War Department plans to promote Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, commander of the round-the-world flight, to the rank of captain. It was reported at McCook Field today. His promotion will be in the nature of a reward for his leadership of the historic globe girdling flight which other nations thus far have failed to accomplish. At his early convenience Lieut. Smith will be called before the Promotion Board of the Fifth Army Corps Area at McCook Field for examination.

The Giants have the natural advantage of a 2 to 1 count in a short series and with Roger Peckinpaugh injured, betting switched today to 2 to 1 on the Giants.

Peck, the most dangerous hitter on the team and mainstay of the defense, was hurt in the second game, pulling a muscle in his leg in running the double that won the game, and he had to quit yesterday.

New York, Oct. 7.—The sun quickly banished a few clouds in the eastern horizon this morning and a clear day was in prospect for the fourth game of the world series between the New York Giants and the Washington Senators at the Polo Grounds. The official weather forecast was "fair and cooler," but a slight chill wore off as the morning advanced.

SENATORS COMPELLED TO TAKE OFFENSIVE

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 7.—Unsteady after taking two body punches, the game Washington Senators had their heads and their hands tight when they gathered this afternoon for the fourth game of the world series against the New York Giants.

With two games against them in a short series, the Senators found themselves in a position where they had to take the offensive and let their defense worry along like Jack Dempsey.

The weather was again reminding of mid-August. A hot sun beat down out of clear skies. The field was lightning fast.

The stands were practically filled to the last seat. Batteries were announced as: Washington, Mogridge and Ruel; New York, Barnes and Gowdy.

FIRST INNING

Washington—McNeely out, Jackson to Kelly. Harris out on strikes. Rice out, Frisch to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

New York—Lindstrom walked. Frisch out, Harris to Judge. Lindstrom stopping at second. Young beat out an infield hit to Bluege. Lindstrom scoring. Bluege made a hard chance but threw low to Judge. It was an error for Bluege. Kelly flied to McNeely. Young taking second after the catch. Meusel walked. Miller out, Harris to Judge. One run, no hits, one error.

SECOND INNING

Washington—Goslin singled past Frisch to center. Bluege beat out an infield hit to Lindstrom. Goslin stopping at second. Ruel out, Lindstrom to Kelly. Miller out, Lindstrom to Kelly. No runs, two hits, no errors.

New York—Jackson flied to McNeely. Gowdy out, Harris to Judge. Barnes walked. Lindstrom singled past Harris to right, Barnes stopping at second. Frisch popped to Harris. No runs, one hit, no errors.

THIRD INNING

Washington—Mogridge fanned. McNeely singled in front of Meusel.

FU'S CENTRAL CHINESE ARMY STARTS ATTACK

ASSAILS MARSHAL LIN'S MANCHURIAN ARMY NEAR SHAN HAI KWAN

TREMENDOUS ARTILLERY BARRAGE LAID DOWN AT DAWN

(By United Press)
London, Oct. 7.—General Wu Pei Fu's central Chinese army began an attack in force on Marshal Chang Tso Lin's Manchurian army near Shan Hai Kwan, the Central News Tientsin correspondent telegraphed today. A tremendous artillery barrage was laid down by the Wu army at dawn and his troops advanced after it on the wave plan evolved during the world war. The Manchus were retreating all along the line.

SUNG KIANG FALLS TO FUKIEN TROOPS

Shanghai, Oct. 7.—Advancing Fukien troops today captured Sung Kiang, burial place of General Frederick Ward, an American who fought with "Chinese" Gordon.

General Chi Hsieh Yuan's forces met little resistance from General Lu Yung Hsiang's Kiangsu troops and continued several miles on toward Shanghai, aiming at Lu's arsenal four miles outside of Sun Kiang.

Lu hurriedly withdrew his army from this part of the front in an attempt to resist an advance of Ming Hong, famous gambling place 20 miles from here, known as China's Monte Carlo.

Chi's men now control the entire south bank of the Whangpi river, while Lu troops, unpaid for several months, are discouraged.

Cites Daugherty's Quick Acquiring of Riches

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 7.—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, was "bankrupt when he assumed office and a wealthy man when he left," it was charged here by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, independent vice presidential candidate.

"Daugherty testified under oath that at the time he came to Washington he did not have enough money to pay his debts," Wheeler declared. "Yet when our senate investigating committee pried into Daugherty's personal account in the bank of his brother, Mal Daugherty, we found the record of recent deposits amounting to more than $75,000."

"When we had found this much Mal Daugherty sought an injunction in court preventing us from pursuing our inquiry further."

Harris singled in front of Young, McNeely stopping at second. Young made a fine return. The crowd yelled for Washington. Rice out, Frisch to Kelly, both runners advancing. Goslin hit a home run into the right field stands, scoring McNeely and Harris ahead of him. The crowd stood up and went into a hysterical outburst. Judge out, Kelly to Barnes. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

New York—Young out on strikes. Kelly out on strikes. Meusel flied to Goslin who made a catch against the left field wall. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING

Washington—Bluege singled past Lindstrom. Ruel sacrificed, Barnes to Kelly, Bluege stopping at second. Miller flied to Meusel. Mogridge out on strikes. No runs, one hit, no errors.

MINE GATEWAY DYNAMITED AND 2 BRIDGES FIRED

(By United Press)
Hartshorn, Okla., Oct. 7.—The gateway to mine No. 12 of the Rock Island Coal & Mining company here was dynamited and two bridges leading to the mine were fired today.

Both demonstrations were attributed to union and non-union miners who have been waging warfare throughout the Hartshorn region.

Feeling was intense and further trouble was anticipated.

WHEELER MAKES SENSATIONAL CHARGES TODAY

ASKS THAT A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF SAME MAY BE MADE

ONE INVOLVES ALASKAN RAILWAY AND OTHER CONCERNS CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

(By United Press)
Portland, Ore., Oct. 7.—Demand for a complete investigation of his sensational charges involving President Coolidge and Secretary of the Interior Work in alleged illegal transactions was made by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, independent vice-presidential candidate, here today. A congressional committee or some other impartial organization of inquiry should sift the facts in these cases he cited, Wheeler said. To an audience at Seattle, Wheeler submitted the following which he contended was proof:

1. That Secretary Work, who succeeded Albert B. Fall, had entered a secret compact with the J. P. Morgan-Guggenheim interests to ruin the government's Alaskan railroad and give them an illegal monopoly of the government's Alaskan resources.

2. That President Coolidge, while governor of Massachusetts, had ordered deposits of state funds in the Max Mitchell Cosmopolitan bank greater than the law permitted and that Mitchell contributed $6,000 to the Coolidge campaign of 1920 when only $1,000 was permitted by the Massachusetts law.

3. That President Coolidge, while governor of Massachusetts, had ordered deposits of state funds in the Max Mitchell Cosmopolitan bank greater than the law permitted and that Mitchell contributed $6,000 to the Coolidge campaign of 1920 when only $1,000 was permitted by the Massachusetts law.

Funeral Directors in Convention in St. Paul

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Oct. 7.—The 34th annual convention of the Minnesota Funeral Directors' association opened this morning at the auditorium. Delegates were present from nearly every municipality in the state. This gathering is preliminary to the 43rd convention of the National Funeral Directors' association which starts Wednesday at the auditorium and will be in session three days. The state convention ends tomorrow evening.

ANATOLE FRANCE, GREAT NOVELIST, CRITICALLY ILL

(By United Press)
Tours, France, Oct. 7.—Anatole France, famous French novelist, ill here, passed a quiet night but is constantly growing weaker, his physicians' bulletins at noon today said.

"M. France is taking food only with great difficulty."

AMERICA IS IN AN ERA OF POLITICAL UNREST

"WE ARE FIGHTING A STRONGLY ORGANIZED MINORITY," SAYS DAWES

CAMPAINING TODAY IN THE SO-CALLED "LA FOLLETTE TERRITORY"

With Dawes Special Train, enroute to St. Paul, Oct. 7.—America is passing through an era of political unrest during which we are fighting a strongly organized minority, General Charles G. Dawes said today while campaigning in the so-called "La-Follette territory." He will move on into Iowa and Nebraska after a noon speech at St. Paul today.

"The challenge of the minority must be answered," General Dawes said in Wisconsin Monday, and in Duluth last night the republican vice-presidential nominee rallied at the third party for its "vicious attack on the Constitution of the United States" and for its "adoption of a socialist platform."

En route to Duluth General Dawes was met at Rice Lake, Wis., by 20 members of the G. A. R. who had served in his father's regiment in the Civil War. The old soldiers accepted his invitation to ride with him to Spooner.

Theodore Christianson, republican nominee for governor in Minnesota, spoke from the same platform in Duluth last night, attacking the government ownership plank of the farmer-labor party platform. Mrs. W. W. Remington, Minneapolis, also spoke from the same platform.

SEEK TO BUILD A SUPER-POWER RADIO STATION

RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA MEETS OPPOSITION IN PLAN

MANY TECHNICAL PROBLEMS CONSIDERED BY RADIO CONFERENCE

Washington, Oct. 7.—The Radio Corporation of America is ready to begin immediate erection of a great super-power broadcasting station at some point outside the city of New York if no regulatory proposals are adopted that would limit its power, David Sarnoff, vice-president of the corporation, announced at the radio conference here today.

With the second day's session of the third national conference plunging into technical problems laid down by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, the question of curbing the power of broadcasting stations came squarely to the front.

Organized opposition to the trend of high power broadcasting was first shown by the resolution of the radio committee of the American newspaper publishers association, representing 41 newspapers, that the present one kilowatt power restriction be maintained.

The large broadcasting concerns, nearly all interested in the sale of receiving apparatus, are said to favor stations of greater power than now permitted.

To furnish broadcasting from one large station would be more economical than to provide similar entertainment from several small plants necessary to cover the same territory, manufacturers argue.

WEATHER SUNNY AS HUGE SHIP FLOATS IN SKY

CIRCLES THE LAKEHURST, N. J., FIELD BEFORE POINTING SOUTH

WIRELESS ON BOARD DIRIGIBLE HERALDS NEWS EN ROUTE

(By United Press)
Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 7.—The giant navy dirigible Shenandoah took off on her long flight to the Pacific coast at 10 a. m. today.

The weather was sunny, with only a slight haze.

The first stop will be Ft. Worth, Tex., where the ship is due Thursday morning. The big air vessel first headed northward and then circled the field before pointing her nose toward the south.

CHEERS SPEED SHIP ON HER WAY

On board the U. S. N. Dirigible Shenandoah, en route to Ft. Worth, Tex., (By wireless to United Press) Oct. 7.—"On your way."

With this cheer ringing in our ears above the roar of motors and the noise of getting away from the landing mast the Shenandoah cast off and headed for Ft. Worth, Tex., on the first leg of her journey to the Pacific coast today.

It was just 10 a. m. when Commander Zachary Lansdowne signalled and the great ship rose from the mooring mast at the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., where we had been floating since shortly after daybreak.

The big dirigible seemed to shake her head with joy at being free in her native element—the air.

Commander Lansdowne had decided to take the southern route after getting his weather reports so we headed south toward Baltimore and Washington. The weather was ideal officers said, but there was a slight haze along the New Jersey coast.

There are 11 officers, 27 enlisted men, and two managers on the airship, including Rear Admiral W. A. Moffat, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics and well known to thousands of "gobs" who served under him while he was commandant of the Great Lakes naval training station during the world war.

HOTTEST CAMPAIGN IN STATE'S HISTORY MATSON'S PREDICTION

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—The present campaign will be the hottest that the state of Minnesota has ever witnessed says Frank Matson, railroad warehouse commissioner. He returned to St. Paul after a sweep through the 6th, 8th and 9th districts with W. I. Nolan, republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

With election day four weeks in the future, the people are waking up rapidly, Mr. Matson said. The crowds that have greeted him and Mr. Nolan are remarkable, he said, and the earnest desire of men and women to familiarize themselves with the issues of the campaign is really striking.

"Farmers and business men throughout the state are in a better frame of mind that they have been in several years," Mr. Matson said. "Of course the answer to this is good crops. Prosperity is rapping at the door of the northwest and the people are smiling in anticipation of the long-lost visitor."

"The LaFollette people are putting up a wonderful fight in Minnesota but it looks to me as though they are beaten."

Mr. Matson resumed his campaign with Mr. Nolan Monday and will be on the road practically all the time between now and November 4.

CHANGES IN OPEN SEASON ON GAMBLED BIRDS

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Important changes in the open seasons on game in Minnesota this year was ordered by Governor Preus this morning.

In Wright, McLeod and Martin counties the governor ordered a closed season on quail because of the scarcity of the birds there. The open season on partridge under the law extends from October 15 to November 20 but the governor's order terminates it November 1 all over the state.

PREMIER CHARGES MEDIEVAL SPIRIT OF CROOKEDNESS

SO CHARACTERIZES THE LIBERAL PROPOSAL TO INVESTIGATE COMMUNIST EDITOR

GOVERNMENT NOT TO BE CENSURED, ONLY INSULTED, SAID MAC DONALD

(By United Press)
London, Oct. 7.—Defying the opposition and exhorting liberal tactics, Premier MacDonald probably made certain a general election by his speech today before the first labor party conference since labor came into power.

"I should not care if a challenge came on vital issues," MacDonald said, "but the liberal proposal to investigate Editor Campbell (a communist charged with sedition, proceedings against whom were dropped by the government) is in the spirit of medieval crookedness and torture."

"The government is not to be censured," the premier continued. "It is only to be insulted. It is not to be executed, it is merely to be put upon the rack."

"The opposition mistakes their men."

"We shall surrender nothing. If there is an election, the responsibility for it is not ours."

When MacDonald predicted victory at the polls he was wildly cheered. The convention passed a resolution congratulating the premier on his achievement and promised the utmost support in event of an election.

Convention officials intimated the resolution proposing affiliation between the laborites and the communists would be ruled out of order.

This was made even more plain when MacDonald defended the Anglo-Russian treaty but repudiated communism, denouncing it as "detestable."

"Communism is a mischievous tiring up of strife," he said, "whereas the laborites propose a democracy of freedom and progress, communism is a product of czarism and war, and we shall have nothing to do with it. Unless we are prepared to engage in a crusade against communism we might as well put up our shutters."

LABOR PARTY REJECTS COMMUNIST AFFILIATION

London, Oct. 7.—Following out Premier MacDonald's statement in opening the convention the labor party today rejected a motion of affiliation with the communist party. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of rejection.

The premier had denounced the communists as having aims entirely at odds with those of labor.

CAMPAINING TODAY IN THE SO-CALLED "LA FOLLETTE TERRITORY"

With Dawes Special Train, enroute to St. Paul, Oct. 7.—America is passing through an era of political unrest during which we are fighting a strongly organized minority, General Charles G. Dawes said today while campaigning in the so-called "La Follette territory." He will move on into Iowa and Nebraska after a noon speech in St. Paul today.

"The challenge of the minority must be answered," General Dawes said in Wisconsin Monday, and in Duluth last night the republican vice-presidential nominee rallied at the third party for its "vicious attack on the Constitution of the United States" and for its "adoption of a socialistic platform."

En route to Duluth General Dawes was met at Rice Lake, Wis., by 20 members of the G. A. R. who had served in his father's regiment in the Civil War. The old soldiers accepted his invitation to ride with him to Spooner.

Theodore Christianson, republican nominee for governor in Minnesota, spoke from the same platform in Duluth last night, attacking the government ownership plank of the farmer-labor party platform. Mrs. W. W. Remington, Minneapolis, also spoke from the same platform.

SEEK TO BUILD A SUPER-POWER RADIO STATION

RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA MEETS OPPOSITION IN PLAN

MANY TECHNICAL PROBLEMS CONSIDERED BY RADIO CONFERENCE

Washington, Oct. 7.—The Radio Corporation of America is ready to begin immediate erection of a great super-power broadcasting station at some point outside the city of New York if no regulatory proposals are adopted that would limit its power, David Sarnoff, vice-president of the corporation, announced at the radio conference here today.

With the second day's session of the third national conference plunging into technical problems laid down by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, the question of curbing the power of broadcasting stations came squarely to the front.

Organized opposition to the trend of high power broadcasting was first shown by the resolution of the radio committee of the American newspaper publishers association, representing 41 newspapers, that the present one kilowatt power restriction be maintained.

The large broadcasting concerns, nearly all interested in the sale of receiving apparatus, are said to favor stations of greater power than now permitted.

To furnish broadcasting from one large station would be more economical than to provide similar entertainment from several small plants necessary to cover the same territory, manufacturers argue.

CHANGES IN OPEN SEASON ON GAME BIRDS

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Important changes in the open seasons on game in Minnesota this year was ordered by Governor Preus this morning.

In Wright, McLeod and Martin counties the governor ordered a closed season on quail because of the scarcity of the birds there. The open season on partridge under the law extends from October 15 to November 30 but the governor's order terminates it November 1 all over the state.

PREMIER CHARGES MEDIEVAL SPIRIT OF CROOKEDNESS

SO CHARACTERIZES THE LIBERAL PROPOSAL TO INVESTIGATE COMMUNIST EDITOR

GOVERNMENT NOT TO BE CENSURED, ONLY INSULTED, SAID MAC DONALD

(By United Press)
London, Oct. 7.—Defying the opposition and exhorting liberal tactics, Premier MacDonald probably made certain a general election by his speech today before the first labor party conference since labor came into power.

"I should not care if a challenge came on vital issues," MacDonald said, "but the liberal proposal to investigate Editor Campbell (a communist charged with sedition, proceedings against whom were dropped by the government) is in the spirit of medieval crookedness and torture."

"The government is not to be censured," the premier continued. "It is only to be insulted. It is not to be executed, it is merely to be put upon the rack."

"The opposition mistakes their men. We shall surrender nothing. If there is an election, the responsibility for it is not ours."

When MacDonald predicted victory at the polls he was wildly cheered. The convention passed a resolution congratulating the premier on his achievement and promised the utmost support in event of an election.

Convention officials intimated the resolution proposing affiliation between the laborites and the communists would be ruled out of order.

This was made even more plain when MacDonald defended the Anglo-Russian treaty but repudiated communism, denouncing it as "detestable."

"Communism is a mischievous tiring up of strife," he said, "whereas the laborites propose a democracy of freedom and progress, communism is a product of czarism and war, and we shall have nothing to do with it. Unless we are prepared to engage in a crusade against communism we might as well put up our shutters."

LABOR PARTY REJECTS COMMUNIST AFFILIATION

London, Oct. 7.—Following out Premier MacDonald's statement in opening the convention the labor party today rejected a motion of affiliation with the communist party.

The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of rejection.

The premier had denounced the communists as having aims entirely at odds with those of labor.

CIRCLES THE LAKEHURST, N. J., FIELD BEFORE POINTING SOUTH

WIRELESS ON BOARD DIRIGIBLE HERALDS NEWS EN ROUTE

(By United Press)
Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 7.—The giant navy dirigible Shenandoah took off on her long flight to the Pacific coast at 10 a. m. today.

The weather was sunny, with only a slight haze.

The first stop will be Ft. Worth, Tex., where the ship is due Thursday morning. The big air vessel first headed northward and then circled the field before pointing her nose toward the south.

CHEERS SPEED SHIP ON HER WAY

On board the U. S. N. Dirigible Shenandoah, en route to Ft. Worth, Tex., (By wireless to United Press) Oct. 7.—"On your way."

With this cheer ringing in our ears above the roar of motors and the noise of getting away from the landing mast the Shenandoah cast off and headed for Ft. Worth, Tex., on the first leg of her journey to the Pacific coast today.

It was just 10 a. m. when Commander Zachary Lansdowne signalled and the great ship rose from the mooring mast at the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., where we had been floating since shortly after daybreak.

The big dirigible seemed to shake her head with joy at being free in her native element—the air.

Commander Lansdowne had decided to take the southern route after getting his weather reports so we headed south toward Baltimore and Washington. The weather was ideal officers said, but there was a slight haze along the New Jersey coast.

There are 11 officers, 27 enlisted men, and two managers on the airship, including Rear Admiral W. A. Moffat, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics and well known to thousands of "gobs" who served under him while he was commandant of the Great Lakes naval training station during the world war.

HOTTEST CAMPAIGN IN STATE'S HISTORY MATSON'S PREDICTION

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—The present campaign will be the hottest that the state of Minnesota has ever witnessed says Frank Matson, railroad warehouse commissioner. He returned to St. Paul after a sweep through the 6th, 8th and 9th districts with W. I. Nolan, republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

With election day four weeks in the future, the people are waking up rapidly, Mr. Matson said. The crowds that have greeted him and Mr. Nolan are remarkable, he said, and the earnest desire of men and women to familiarize themselves with the issues of the campaign is really striking.

"Farmers and business men throughout the state are in a better frame of mind that they have been in several years," Mr. Matson said. "Of course the answer to this is good crops. Prosperity is rapping at the door of the northwest and the people are smiling in anticipation of the long-lost visitor."

"The LaFollette people are putting up a wonderful fight in Minnesota but it looks to me as though they are beaten."

Mr. Matson resumed his campaign with Mr. Nolan Monday and will be on the road practically all the time between now and November 4.

Gardner Auditorium Substituted For Court House to Hold Assemblage

MAGNUS MAIN ATTRACTION

Five Other Farmer-Labor Candidates of Ticket Give Short Addresses

U. S. Senator Magnus Johnson, and other candidates on the Farmer-Labor ticket, addressed a packed house at the Gardner Auditorium last evening after finding the farmer's room at the court house much too small to accommodate all seeking to hear them. Many were unable to find even standing room at the auditorium.

It was plain that Minnesota's farmer-Senator was the main attraction of the evening although the other speakers were well received by the crowd. They included Emil E. Holmes candidate for Lieutenant Governor; S. C. Shipstead candidate for Congressman from the Sixth District; Wm. G. Moritz, candidate for Representative-at-Large Morrison and Crow Wing counties; F. A. Moerke, candidate for Representative from Crow Wing county, and Thomas Fraser candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

The party of speakers left Brainerd early this morning for Crosby, Deerwood, Ironton and Aitkin and expect to return here this evening enroute to points north.

Sen. Johnson apparently left a very good impression with all those hearing his message.

COLLISION IN BRAINERD YARDS

Afternoon Passenger Train to Duluth Was Delayed Over Hour Today

ACCIDENT NEAR 8TH STREET

John Jones Engineer of Switch Engine, Albert Mentzer of Duluth on Passenger Engine

The afternoon passenger train to Duluth was delayed over an hour today by a collision in the Brainerd yards.

This train was just pulling out at 2:26 o'clock when switch engine No. 902 backed from one of the side tracks on to the main line just in front of the passenger.

The engines were so close that neither engineer had time to stop and the two came together near the Eighth street crossing. John Jones was engineer on the switch engine, and Albert Mentzer, of Duluth was engineer on the passenger. Conductor Gladman, also of Duluth was in charge of the train.

The passenger engine, No. 2126 had a large hole put in its tank, the air pump torn off and the pilot broken. The switch engine's tank also had a hole stove in it and the foot boards torn off. No one was injured.

ELKS STATE HEAD NAMES COMMITTEES

John E. Regan of Mankato Presides at Meeting of State Association in Minneapolis

THREE BRAINERD MEN NAMED

Discussion of Welfare Work, State Convention in Brainerd in 1925 and Other Topics

Appointive officers and standing committees of the state association of the Elks were named by John E. Regan of Mankato, president, at a meeting of the state officers of the order Saturday at the Minneapolis Elks club.

The officers attending the meeting, who were elected at the state gathering in August at Duluth, were Mr. Regan, Thomas B. Wilson of Minneapolis, first vice president; Paul McGear of Rochester, second vice president; Edward W. Stevens of Duluth, third vice president; Lannie C. Horne of Minneapolis, secretary; W. W. Koons of St. Cloud, treasurer; Chester R. Leech of St. Paul, Thomas J. Griffith of Minneapolis and Joseph C. Page of Winona, trustees.

The appointive officers named by President Regan were Inner Guard Thomas P. Gleason, Minneapolis; Chaplain Rev. Ezra M. Clemmons, Owatonna; Sergeant-at-Arms John P. Murphy, Hibbing; Dr. T. R. Butler, secretary to President, Mankato.

The standing committees named were:

EXPERIENCED IN BUSINESS

Kittenball Ball Teams to Play on Roller Skates, as Exciting as Polo

Archie Falconer has taken over the roller skating rink, started several weeks ago in the Gardner auditorium, and will operate it in the future along improved lines.

Mr. Falconer has had some little experience in this business, having conducted roller rinks in the city in 1914 and again in 1919. One of the innovations planned for the present rink is the organizing of kittenball teams, to play on roller skates. This pastime has proven very popular in other localities where it has been introduced.

On Monday evening skating was stopped early to permit a political meeting to be held in the hall. The skaters were given checks good for another evening's skating. The Farmer-Labor meeting, scheduled for the farmers' room in the court house, could not take care of the crowd there, and was adjourned to the roller rink. On Friday evening another political meeting will be held at the rink, and there will be no skating on that night.

The city council, at its meeting on Monday evening took action to reduce the license fee for the roller rink from $200 to $25, Mr. Falconer reports.

COUNCIL IN SESSION MONDAY

Resolution Presented Calling For Special Election to Vote on Charter Amendments

CURBING, SEWER REPORTS

Amendment Licensing Roller Rinks Reduces Fee From $200 to $25

At the regular meeting of the city council on Monday night, a resolution was presented by Alderman Holmstrom calling for a special election for voting upon the proposed amendments to the city charter. This special election, according to the resolution, is to be held in conjunction with the general election on November 4th, the same judges and clerks to be used for both the special and general election. The resolution was adopted when put to a vote.

Archie Falconer appeared before the council and requested that a license be granted him to operate a roller skating rink at Gardner hall for a limited time. On motion a license was granted Mr. Falconer for four months, the fee to be $25.

On motion of Aldermen Wesley and Ritari the city attorney was instructed to draw up an amendment to the city ordinances relating to the licensing of roller rinks. The city attorney then presented an amendment to paragraph 4 of section 4 of city ordinance 33, as amended by ordinance 43 be amended by striking out the words $200 and substitute in lieu thereof the words $25. This amendment was then given its first reading.

A petition for a sewer in Northeast Brainerd was presented and referred to the city engineer to give an estimate of cost and report at the next meeting.

Alderman Ritari reported that new curbing on Pine street between Eleventh and Sixteenth streets was unsatisfactory, and the matter was referred upon motion to the street committee and the city engineer to report at the next meeting.

H. L. Sundberg appeared in regard to a sewer on Rosewood street, and asked that the city handle this matter as it has others in the past. On motion the two sewers in Southeast Brainerd petitioned for at a previous meeting, were included in bids for sewers in Northeast, which have already been petitioned.

On motion a Mr. Elbes, whose house is in the street at the intersection of Tenth and E streets, Northeast, was ordered to vacate this street, the matter being placed in the hands of the city attorney.

Mayor Con O'Brien reported on the Lund road matter at the east city limits. He stated that he had met with the commissioners and that the county highway engineer had advised that the county and city would together have to give a roadway along this line. The matter was on motion referred to the city and county attorneys.

Mayor O'Brien further reported on proposed crossing gates at street intersections with railway tracks. He stated that he did not feel that such gates would prove practical, since they would tend to delay traffic.

A permit was granted to the Brainerd Board of Education to lay a sewer in West Brainerd from the school to the Mississippi river.

A Mr. Lind notified the council that water is standing in the street at the intersection of Rosewood and Thirteenth streets, due to the ditches along the side of the streets being clogged, which causes a very unsanitary condition. The matter was referred to the city engineer. J. H. Krekelberg reported a similar condition existing at Maple and Thirteenth, which was referred to the street committee, with instruction to clean out the ditches at the sides of the streets, so that the water may run off.

On motion the city engineer was empowered to lay sidewalks as advertised in a resolution adopted by the council on September 2nd.

The final estimates of S. Riches and Son, contractors on recent street paving on North Fourth, North Sixth, South Fifth and South Seventh streets were allowed and on motion ordered paid. The final estimate on the South Eighth street paving, amounting to $10,751.19 was allowed and ordered paid with the exception of $250 which is to be retained until the paving is completed at a later date.

The usual bills were allowed subject to the approval of the finance committee. All members of the council were present with the exception of Aldermen C. H. Paine, Quanstrom and Witham.

A STORE OF SERVICE

THE celebration of their twentieth birthday by the H. F. Michael Company calls to mind the service an institution of this kind can bring to a city. This store has always been most progressive and has served its clientele well. Women particularly are always pleased to have such an institution which caters to their wants in a most efficient manner. Such an institution is an indispensable unit in any progressive city.

This store has always given its fullest support to any movement for the city's betterment. The flower loving residents of Brainerd will remember the peony show which was fostered and held in this store in July as one of the civic activities, characteristic of this store. The marked interest in flowers in Brainerd this summer received its inspiration from this show.

To think of Mr. Michael is to think of one who has given of his time most lavishly to the best interest of the city. He is now finishing his sixth year as alderman, during which term he has enjoyed the confidence of the others members of the council in an unusual manner. He was chairman of the organization committee and charter president of the Rotary club, an institution of service.

An inventory of the public work done in a city generally reveals the fact that it is lead in most instances by business or professional men whose business training has fitted them to lead. This calls to mind the fact that those citizens who trade at home are helping to develop their city, although indirectly, yet in the most practical manner. Outside business concerns have no interests in the city outside of the dollar which they can secure from it.

A RECORD IN ECONOMY

THE Republican administration has achieved a record in economy. Briefly, these things have been accomplished:

Reduction of the public debt by more than three billion dollars, saving in interest alone more than $135,000,000 a year.

Reduction of the cost of running the federal government of more than two billion dollars a year.

Reduction of the number of employees on the federal payroll by close to 100,000.

The establishment and operation of a budget system in handling the fiscal affairs of the federal government, resulting in economies hitherto thought impossible.

Ending of the naval construction races of the great powers, which laid terrific tax burdens on the whole world, through the Conference for the Limitation of Armaments.

A record any party could be proud of, and particularly proud when it is remembered that conditions almost chaotic were inherited from the previous administration.

THE OLD HOME PAPER

"THE old home town newspaper is one of the greatest institutions of a great nation," says S. E. Elliott of St. Paul. It comes close to the hearts of its readers—even of its policy be not always recommended—it commands respect and confidence.

It shows that the visits of the paper to the homes of the town and country is an event enjoyed by all. The editor is close to his constituents.

The readers have more time and this makes the country weekly a vehicle of opinion and a mode of genuine leadership. The country paper is loyal to its policies and takes a large part in earnest discussion of public affairs from a disinterested standpoint. The country weekly and smaller city daily admittedly, is the greatest force for progress in this country today.

THE VOTE SLACKER

THE vote slacker should be driven from cover and made to perform this greatest duty of citizenship, casting his vote November 4. A Deerwood citizen has suggested that newspapers print the list of vote slackers, but it is most difficult to compile such a roll with accuracy.

Publicity is a cure for many evils and continual hammering by the newspapers will cause many a vote slacker to see the evil of his ways. This citizenship is most precious. It took years of toil to gain the privileges.

As so aptly stated by Judge Roeser of St. Cloud, citizenship should be made one of participation. Minority rule will govern where only a few take the time to vote. The ironical part of the whole thing is that the vote slacker is the greatest critic of the government.

AUTO RUNNING COSTS

It costs from 50 to 100 per cent more a mile for gasoline over dirt roads than over roads that are surfaced—graveled or paved. The dirt roads have this disadvantage, there is no benefit received for this expenditure.

Dirt roads increase tire costs 67 per cent over hard-surfaced roads, Mr. Phelps of the Washington College of Engineering has figured out.

Poor roads levy a gasoline tax of three times the amount that the Minnesota legislature probably will levy early next year.

If Amendment No. 1 receives enough "yes" votes in November, the gas tax money can be put into needed road improvements. Think of the comfort and enjoyment! Money held out on the road program goes with more added for extra wear and tear, repairs, tires and other items.

DENTIST ARRESTED BY PATIENT; SEEKS $20,000 DAMAGES

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Dr. M. J. Cowin, St. Paul dentist, has filed suit in district court against Samuel A. Grossman, a former patient, for $20,250 damages for false arrest.

The action is a sequel to a case brought by the defendant against Dr. Cowin in municipal court Aug. 15, when Grossman filed a complaint charging that Dr. Cowin the preceding day had taken, by means of force, moneys and bank notes, amounting to $20.

Dr. Cowin was arrested Aug. 18 at his office and was locked up in jail for seven hours, he alleges, and was released on $1,000 bail.

The case was called for trial Sept. 16 and was dismissed.

Because of wide publicity, Dr. Cowin alleges his practice was damaged, as well as his standing in the community.

The suit was filed by Morphy, Bradford & Cummins, attorneys for Dr. Cowin.

21,050 CAR BRAKES TESTED BY AUTO CLUB IN 8 DAYS

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Brake tests were made on 21,050 cars by the Auto club and police department during the 8 days' operation of the testing station.

Clarence Meyer, secretary-manager of the Auto club, announced the figure.

Although the campaign was on for 19 days, there were only eight days of actual testing, as rain prevented the work on two days.

Results of the campaign so far are repairs to the brakes of 4,346 machines, Mr. Meyer said, with reports yet to come in from 7,691 motorists whose cars were tested.

Of the 4,346 whose brakes had to be repaired, 1,598 were equalized, 1,550 were adjusted, and 1,198 were relined, Mr. Meyer said.

The club and police department will start a check this week on motorists who have not returned their cards.

TOO ARDENT ROMEO GOES BEHIND BARS FOR 60-DAY TERM

St. Paul, Oct. 7.—Frank Koldbeck, a much too ardent Romeo, will view life and love through the bars of the workhouse for many days to come.

Last July Hulda Nygard, a waitress at the Ambassador, complained to the police that Frank's love was too warm and his devotion so wild that he broke the window pane in her front door when he called—which was daily—and found her out with another. He was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge, and given a suspended sentence in police court July 7 by Judge Olson on his promise to leave town and cease annoying Hulda.

Hulda, who is of generous proportions in contrast to the extremely slender lover, told the court today that Frank, who had been writing her letters threatening her life, recently returned to town and has been pursuing her until she has to seek an escort to protect herself.

Judge Olson revoked the suspended sentence and sent Frank to the workhouse for 60 days as a cure for his love mania.

A STORE OF SERVICE

THE celebration of their twentieth birthday by the H. F. Michael Company calls to mind the service an institution of this kind can bring to a city. This store has always been most progressive and has served its clientele well. Women particularly are always pleased to have such an institution which caters to their wants in a most efficient manner. Such an institution is an indispensable unit in any progressive city.

This store has always given its fullest support to any movement for the city's betterment. The flower loving residents of Brainerd will remember the peony show which was fostered and held in this store in July as one of the civic activities, characteristic of this store. The marked interest in flowers in Brainerd this summer received its inspiration from this show.

To think of Mr. Michael is to think of one who has given of his time most lavishly to the best interest of the city. He is now finishing his sixth year as alderman, during which term he has enjoyed the confidence of the others members of the council in an unusual manner. He was chairman of the organization committee and charter president of the Rotary club, an institution of service.

An inventory of the public work done in a city generally reveals the fact that it is lead in most instances by business or professional men whose business training has fitted them to lead. This calls to mind the fact that those citizens who trade at home are helping to develop their city, although indirectly, yet in the most practical manner. Outside business concerns have no interests in the city outside of the dollar which they can secure from it.

A RECORD IN ECONOMY

THE Republican administration has achieved a record in economy. Briefly, these things have been accomplished:

Reduction of the public debt by more than three billion dollars, saving in interest alone more than $135,000,000 a year.

Reduction of the cost of running the federal government of more than two billion dollars a year.

Reduction of the number of employees on the federal payroll by close to 100,000.

The establishment and operation of a budget system in handling the fiscal affairs of the federal government, resulting in economies hitherto thought impossible.

Ending of the naval construction races of the great powers, which laid terrific tax burdens on the whole world, through the Conference for the Limitation of Armaments.

A record any party could be proud of, and particularly proud when it is remembered that conditions almost chaotic were inherited from the previous administration.

THE OLD HOME PAPER

"THE old home town newspaper is one of the greatest institutions of a great nation," says S. E. Elliott of St. Paul. It comes close to the hearts of its readers—even of its policy be not always recommended—it commands respect and confidence.

It shows that the visits of the paper to the homes of the town and country is an event enjoyed by all. The editor is close to his constituents.

The readers have more time and this makes the country weekly a vehicle of opinion and a mode of genuine leadership. The country paper is loyal to its policies and takes a large part in earnest discussion of public affairs from a disinterested standpoint. The country weekly and smaller city daily admittedly, is the greatest force for progress in this country today.

THE VOTE SLACKER

THE vote slacker should be driven from cover and made to perform this greatest duty of citizenship, casting his vote November 4. A Deerwood citizen has suggested that newspapers print the list of vote slackers, but it is most difficult to compile such a roll with accuracy.

Publicity is a cure for many evils and continual hammering by the newspapers will cause many a vote slacker to see the evil of his ways. This citizenship is most precious. It took years of toil to gain the privileges.

As so aptly stated by Judge Roeser of St. Cloud, citizenship should be made one of participation. Minority rule will govern where only a few take the time to vote. The ironical part of the whole thing is that the vote slacker is the greatest critic of the government.

AUTO RUNNING COSTS

It costs from 50 to 100 per cent more a mile for gasoline over dirt roads than over roads that are surfaced—graveled or paved. The dirt roads have this disadvantage, there is no benefit received for this expenditure.

Dirt roads increase tire costs 67 per cent over hard-surfaced roads, Mr. Phelps of the Washington College of Engineering has figured out.

Poor roads levy a gasoline tax of three times the amount that the Minnesota legislature probably will levy early next year.

If Amendment No. 1 receives enough "yes" votes in November, the gas tax money can be put into needed road improvements. Think of the comfort and enjoyment! Money held out on the road program goes with more added for extra wear and tear, repairs, tires and other items.

BRAINERD LOSES
THIRD GAME OF
FOOTBALL SEASON

Brainerd High School met defeat at the hands of the fast Crosby-Ironton team last Saturday by a score of 3 to 0.

Although defeated, Brainerd played by far the best football of the year, the locals playing like seasoned veterans.

The first quarter opened when Crosby kicked off, Brainerd returning the ball to their 25 yard line. From then on until the last part of the quarter the ball zig-zagged in mid-field, neither team making much headway, although Brainerd was successful with several end runs. Rosenberg then accomplished a beautiful punt to Crosby's 10 yard line. This ended the first quarter.

The first play after the opening of the second quarter was a punt by Crosby, bringing the ball again into Brainerd's territory. Brainerd fails to gain. Crosby fails to gain. Brainerd again fails to gain. Crosby then advances the ball to Brainerd's 35 yard line where a successful, place-kick gains them three points, the only scoring done during the entire game. Brainerd then chooses to kick off and Crosby returns the ball to our 35 yard line where it stays until the end of the second quarter.

In the second half Brainerd kicked off and Crosby by a series of passes brought the ball into mid-field where it remained with few changes until the end of the third quarter.

The last quarter opened with both teams fighting hard. Brainerd on their first four plays sent Putz through the line for a total gain of about 25 yards and a series of passes brings the ball to Crosby's 25 yard line where it is lost by a fumble. Crosby also tries the passing game almost entirely and gets the ball out of their territory, but the whistle ends the game at this point.

Stars for Brainerd were Putz and Rosenberg on the offense and Tribur, Dieckhaus and Koop on the defense. Rosenberg's opportunity for a touchdown was spoiled by interference on the side-lines.

Reports From Mixed Grade

The election of the Mixed Grade officers was held yesterday morning with the following results:
President—Henry Viken.
Vice-presidents—Margaret Bouma and Lawrence Swanson.
Secretary—Frank Ackerman.
Treasurer—Levi Folsom.

We are looking forward to some good times after the examinations are over. Everyone is worrying over the six-week tests.

The number of three certificate pupils was greater this year than ever before, fifty-three having registered, all of whom are carrying four High School subjects.

During the summer vacation a picture was loaned to the Mixed Grade by Mrs. Gemmell. It represents "Sherman's March to the Sea."

Everyone is enjoying our new light fixtures; they are a great improvement on the two sickly lights that we had before.

POLITICS

Miss Larson's fourth period English class is carrying on a heated and intensive political campaign. Yesterday speeches upholding the three presidential candidates and their respective running-mates were delivered and each speaker did his best to prove to the class that HIS man was the RIGHT man.

Roy Erickson, a democrat, stated that if he and Martius Seeger had been at the democratic convention this summer they certainly would have voted for Davis in preference to the other nominees. The democrats are rather in the minority, having only three upholders of their principles. The republican group, Lorraine Morrison, chairman, has the majority, with the independents led by Albert Rathert running a close second.

Jack: "Hey! Mr. Krueger, do you think I am a good runner?"

Krueger: "Yes, if you did not run so long in one place."

EDITORIAL

Making Success of Brainonian

We are beginning with this issue the fourth consecutive year of newspaper work. Due to the courtesy of the Brainerd Daily Dispatch the students of Brainerd High School obtain entire control of these six columns free of charge and with no obligation whatsoever, excepting to make use of the offer to the best of the High School and the people of Brainerd.

Some of us who expected and would have preferred an independent publication need but to remember that it is far better to do a lesser thing right than to assume a greater task which might in time prove itself too great to finish. At the same time the publication of this sheet must not be compared to a small task that can easily be accomplished.

And what is more, it can not be accomplished by the twelve people representing the staff alone. We must have the help of the entire student-body. You have a person at the head of each news department because it is impossible for the editor to keep in touch with every individual in the school and ask each one separately what he or she thought would be interesting and desirable for publication. Each and every one of you must consider it your duty to see to it that everything of interest to the rest of the school, every incident regarding students or a member of the faculty, every occurrence either serious or humorous, is brought to the attention of some member of the staff. You will need no extraordinary literary ability, you need not be a 100 per cent English scholar or get a mark of 99 in your compositions; if you prefer to have someone else do the writing, tell us, and that part of the proposition will be attended to.

The respective staff members are already spending several hours each week toward editing this paper and will keep on doing this; but to do so in the spirit necessary to accomplish anything one undertakes, they want to see the entire school take interest in the paper and make it THEIR publication.

ENROLLMENT NOTES

The following statistics concerning the High School Enrollment should be of interest to every student. Remember them and boost the High School by being able to answer questions.

	Boys	Girls	Total
Freshmen	73	86	159
Sophomores	39	72	111
Juniors	35	57	92
Seniors	24	46	70

These 432 students as well as 60 Mixed Grade students who carry four High School subjects are divided into groups of 29 or more with a member of the faculty as advisor to each group. Although this system is new in Brainerd, it is an old arrangement among many schools of the state. The object is to enable the faculty to keep in closer touch with the students, assisting them in their work, and admonishing or encouraging them, as the case may be.

MORE GYM

No doubt the curiosity of many people has been aroused by the sight of groups of girls running madly through town during school hours. These seem to come in small divisions—a few far ahead—a few farther back trying to catch up—a few still farther back trying to catch up with them, and so on down to the feebly panting stragglers at the rear.

This work is part of the physical training given at the B. H. S. While the good weather lasts, all exercises are taken out of doors to get the benefit of the fresh air. Everyone is interested in the work. A few girls go ahead to blaze the trail—after them come the class learning the old Indian craft of following a trail. Sometimes the leaders get too zealous and go rather farther than the others would care to—for instance the N. P. Shops, to Boom Lake, S. E. Brainerd and even to the Cemetery. As the class periods are only 45 minutes long, it can easily be seen that muscles and lungs are getting excellent training. The next time anyone sees a long blur moving twenty miles an hour down the street he can classify it as a Physical Ed. class that has just heard the bell for the next class.

UPPER CLASSMEN ENJOY THEIR FIRST PICNIC

Gilbert Lake was again duly honored when the very democratic Seniors, having hung their naughty demeanors to the winds, asked the socially ambitious Junior class to accompany them on their annual pilgrimage to its historic shores. Old Gilbert was in its element and beamed benignly on its pilgrims, doing its best to uphold its fame as a traditional haven for pleasure seekers.

The weather was ideal for a picnic and the sumptuous repast of wieners, potato salad, pickles, buns, coffee, and ice cream was dispatched by a crowd of 120 people in the great out-of-doors.

The camp-fire was admired by all for its warmth and beauty. When its last dying embers had sunk into blackened coals, the crowd repaired to the pavilion where a program of entertainment was carried out.

SOMETHING FOR YOU TO THINK ABOUT

The hope has been expressed not alone by the student-body, but also by the people interested in High School athletics, that Brainerd High School shall put teams on the field this year of which a city of Brainerd's size might well be proud.

This is a task that requires the whole-hearted support of both the students and the public. One of the main reasons for the poor showing of our athletic teams in years past was the lack of just this thing.

Brainerd is very fortunate this year in having Mr. Krueger as director of athletics. Coach Krueger was captain of the 1923 Hamline University football team, hence he is well versed in the knowledge of the game and the way it is played today. One of the handicaps with which he has to contend is the lack of practically the entire team of last season. Another obstacle is the small number of men answering the call for fresh recruits, prohibiting the forming of two teams for scrimmage. Nevertheless, the men who do come out regularly are entering into the spirit of the thing and are making progress toward putting a good team on the field. If we do lose most of this year's games, at least we will have the material for a strong "eleven" next year, as most of the men are under-graduates.

GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club has started its work for the following year under the direction of Miss Cora Rickard. There is an unusually large number of girls participating this year and Miss Rickard expects to develop a fine chorus. Some new sheet-music is expected to arrive soon which will greatly add to the interest of the work. Glee Club days have been set for Tuesday and Wednesday at 3:30.

Who, What and Where

With the co-operation of the Minnesota University we intend to publish in the near future a series of articles concerning the State University that should prove interesting and educational to every student.

News notes or any other contributions for this paper unless delivered directly may be deposited in the box under the bulletin board in the hall.

Watch our next issues for the Exchange List containing the names and notes of other High School publications.

Any and all suggestions toward the improvement of this sheet will be greatly appreciated.

You may expect the Brainonian in this very place one week from today.

Miss Eastman, teacher of Mathematics two years ago, was a Brainerd visitor over Sunday. Miss Eastman is now teaching at Wayzata.

Bernice White, '25, and Bernice Samuelson, '26, are the official stenographers of the Brainonian. Much credit is due them for the sacrifice of many valuable minutes.

Remember the following football dates:

Little Falls at Brainerd, Oct. 10th.
Brainerd at Crosby, Oct. 18th.
Staples at Brainerd, Oct. 25th.
Brainerd at Little Falls, Nov. 15th.

SOME NEWS FOR THE ALMA MATER

As the Alumni of Brainerd increases year by year it is impossible to say something about everyone. Some of the graduates have been hard to find, but the following list contains some of the ones that have been located:

Earl Engbretson, a graduate of '24 is employed in Milwaukee. Earl was one of our star basket ball players.

Otto Heikkinen, a graduate of '24 is in charge of the Standard Oil station in Brainerd. Otto was also a star in basket ball.

Maysie Carmichael, a graduate of '24, is employed by the Brainerd Gas Company.

Aileen King and Marion Bachelgor, both of the class of '24 are students at the St. Cloud Normal. There will be no doubt about their ability to teach when they finish.

Virgil Quansstrom, president of the class of '24, is surveying in and around Brainerd. "Wurgle" always liked something like that, anyway.

Marie Holmes, Dora VanAlstine, Grace Gordon, Myrtle Haake, Helene Buscher, Mabel McKay, Dagmar Nelson and May Fitzpatrick, all members of the class of '24, are attending the B. H. S. Normal. Marie and Dora wear their hair in curls. No one would think they were even attempting to be teachers.

Charles Hoffman and Joe Day, both of '24, are in the employment of the First National Bank. Though they do not look alike, they both shine forth as real business men.

Marie Branchaud, '24, is attending the Rochester School of Nursing. Marie was always giving us something. She used to give us orders, but now—maybe ether!

Roland Golemboski, '24, is driving Brainerd's new taxi. We suppose he is trying to make Brainerd look like Minneapolis or St. Paul.

Walter (sentence): "Ain't you coming, Emma?"

Miss Schow: "Now correct it."

Walter: "Are you going, Emma?"

Miss Spink (to Bun Mraz): "Now Bernard, what form of exercise do you enjoy most?"

Clifford G. (answering for Bun): "Sitting down."

Miss Hall: "Russell, tell us about Dr. Schliemann's work on the finding of Troy."

Russell: "Dr. Schliemann discovered the ruins of Troy, but did not know it until after he was dead."

"Your head is more valuable than it looks."

"Why?"

"The ivory doesn't show from the outside."

V. M. to V. P.: "You had your hair cut again, didn't you?"

V. P.: "No, I just combed it."

V. M.: "I thought it looked extraordinary."

Class Elections

Social activities have made their beginning among the upper classes and the various presidents have started their careers by offering their subjects the privilege of a picnic or a party.

Elections were held by all the classes excepting the Freshman and Mixed Grade. For the benefit of the individual, the officers of the respective classes are hereby brought into print:

Seniors

President—Harry Lyndon.
Vice-pres.—Walter Engbretson.
Treasurer—Thomas Larkin.
Secretary—Myra Trask.
Reporter—Sophie Brending.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Owen Swanson.
Class Advisor—Miss Tornstrom.
The students here look forward to the Seniors in particular for amusements and programs during the current year.

Juniors

President—Stewart Gile.
Vice-president—Earl DeRocher.
Treasurer—Esther Bentley.
Secretary—Miriam Michael.
Reporter—Mercedes Johnson.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Gerald Anderson.
Class Advisor—Miss Jorandby.
Will this year's Juniors produce a second carnival? We hope so.

Sophomores

President—Margaret O'Brien.
Vice-president—Elmer Peterson.
Treasurer—Alice Johnson.
Secretary—Iva Trask.
Reporter—Alta Storm.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Raymond Anderson.
Class Advisors—Miss Larson and Miss Dean.

It does seem as though Woman Suffrage is increasing, doesn't it? By all appearances the Sophomores are to be subjected to petticoat rule. Raymond and Elmer have the sympathy of the entire school.

Because of the late election of Freshmen and Mixed Grade officers the respective reporters, Kathleen Early and Irma Haase, have been appointed by members of the faculty. Watch for the rest of the class elections in next week's Brainonian.

Normal Training Notes

The normal training department is out for practical experience. Just now the girls are teaching third grade reading, some in the Whittier and some in the Lincoln. They hear some most interesting things, for instance: grim-looking means kinda hard boiled.

The Misses Myrtle Evensta and Bess Bailey spent Sunday at their homes in Pillager.

Mabel McKay is being drilled to recognize the word "Stop!" when she sees it. The girls are worrying about her safety as she failed to recognize the word "Stop" the other night and nearly ran over a standing freight.

No Ambition

He—I could go on dancing this way forever.
She—Goodness. Don't you ever expect to be able to really dance?

Completely Defined

"Papa, why do they call it hard to pay for?"
"Because, Willie, it's not only hard on itself, but hard to get and harder to pay for."

A LECTURE GIVEN
BY REV. HANSON

On Monday, September 29, a talk was given which provoked much thought and was also very entertaining. Rev. Anton Hanson, pastor of the Federated Church of Owatonna, spoke to the High School on what he considers the most priceless possession to be had by any one.

Rev. Hanson introduced his subject by describing a visit to Tiffany's New York, and the many magnificent jewels to be bought there. He said that on asking the price he found that certain of these sold at "only five thousand," while others were much more. He was shown the famous Tiffany diamond, which is worth one hundred thousand. This gorgeous gem is, he said, priceless as far as we are concerned.

Rev. Hanson considers a disciplined and wholesome mind priceless and more to be desired than the Tiffany diamond. He explained that a disciplined mind is one which does not go wandering off along bypaths. A disciplined mind does not think of chocolates when one is supposed to be studying algebra. A disciplined mind thinks only of the given task until that is finished and realizes that there is a time for everything.

Even more valuable than a disciplined mind, stated Rev. Hanson, is a wholesome mind, a mind fit for yourself and others to live with. A wholesome mind is not only a clean, pure mind but also a cheerful, friendly mind. He asked whether we should prefer to get rich quick

With the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) industry begins with service and ends with profits. Service and profits are fundamentally two aspects of the same thing. The one contains the other.

A fair profit to the stockholders, a fair price to the consumers, a just industrial program for the workers, a clean attitude toward competitors and service for everybody, all the time, are merely different ways of saying: here is an industrial corporation which is successful.

Distinguished service medals are not awarded bankrupts. If an organization cannot make a profit, it cannot remain in business. If industry is made to suffer the wrongs of unnecessary investigations, fixed profits, fixed wages or any other fixed workings of business, the business will eventually be forced into bankruptcy, and the result will be a summary ending of its service to society.

Business is a living, growing, changing organism. It cannot be "fixed." You cannot animate by law. You can only restrain. And unwise restraint tends to lessen and limit production.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is carrying on with scientific efficiency. Its service to society, as a whole, is an inseparable part of its successful existence.

The Lamar, Missouri, Democrat says: "Every great and successful business does more to make happy homes, raise living standards, and place comforts and even luxuries at the doors of myriads, than all of the spouting declaimers that ever dwell in the iridescent realms of fancy."

"Good wages could never be paid without creative genius to organize and carry on a successful business. And the secret of every big business success is to be able to sell things cheaper instead of higher."

"Our greatest benefactors are seldom recognized for what they are. If you'd tell the average man, for example, that the Standard Oil Company had done more for the human race than all of the ripsnorting sorts of discontent that ever tortured the air with their raucous clamor, he'd probably say you were joking."

The success of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is enduring only because its existence is profitable and serviceable to all with whom it comes in contact.

BRAINERD LOSES

THIRD GAME OF FOOTBALL SEASON

Brainerd High School met defeat at the hands of the fast Crosby-Ironton team last Saturday by a score of 3 to 0.

Although defeated, Brainerd played by far the best football of the year, the locals playing like seasoned veterans.

The first quarter opened when Crosby kicked off. Brainerd returning the ball to their 25 yard line. From then on until the last part of the quarter the ball zig-zagged in mid-field, neither team making much headway, although Brainerd was successful with several end runs. Rosenberg then accomplished a beautiful punt to Crosby's 10 yard line. This ended the first quarter.

The first play after the opening of the second quarter was a punt by Crosby, bringing the ball again into Brainerd's territory. Brainerd fails to gain. Crosby fails to gain. Brainerd again fails to gain. Crosby then advances the ball to Brainerd's 35 yard line where a successful, place-kick gains them three points, the only scoring done during the entire game. Brainerd then chooses to kick off and Crosby returns the ball to our 35 yard line where it stays until the end of the second quarter.

In the second half Brainerd kicked off and Crosby by a series of passes brought the ball into mid-field where it remained with few changes until the end of the third quarter.

The last quarter opened with both teams fighting hard. Brainerd on their first four plays sent Putz through the line for a total gain of about 25 yards and a series of passes brings the ball to Crosby's 25 yard line where it is lost by a fumble.

Crosby also tries the passing game almost entirely and gets the ball out of their territory, but the whistle ends the game at this point.

Stars for Brainerd were Putz and Rosenberg on the offense and Tribur, Dieckhaus and Koop on the defense. Rosenberg's opportunity for a touchdown was spoiled by interference on the side-lines.

Reports From Mixed Grade

The election of the Mixed Grade officers was held yesterday morning with the following results:
President—Henry Viken.
Vice-presidents—Margaret Bouma and Lawrence Swanson.
Secretary—Frank Ackerman.
Treasurer—Levi Folsom.

We are looking forward to some good times after the examinations are over. Everyone is worrying over the six-week tests.

The number of three certificate pupils was greater this year than ever before, fifty-three having registered, all of whom are carrying four High School subjects.

During the summer vacation a picture was loaned to the Mixed Grade by Mrs. Gemmell. It represents "Sherman's March to the Sea."

Everyone is enjoying our new light fixtures; they are a great improvement on the two sickly lights that we had before.

POLITICS

Miss Larson's fourth period English class is carrying on a heated and intensive political campaign. Yesterday speeches upholding the three presidential candidates and their respective running-mates were delivered and each speaker did his best to prove to the class that HIS man was the RIGHT man.

Roy Erickson, a democrat, stated that if he and Martin Seger had been at the democratic convention this summer they certainly would have voted for Davis in preference to the other nominees. The democrats are rather in the minority, having only three upholders of their principles. The republican group, Lorraine Morrison, chairman, has the majority, with the independents led by Albert Rathert running a close second.

Jack: "Hey! Mr. Krueger, do you think I am a good runner?"

Krueger: "Yes, if you did not run so long in one place."

EDITORIAL

Making Success of Brainonian
We are beginning with this issue the fourth consecutive year of newspaper work. Due to the courtesy of the Brainerd Daily Dispatch the students of Brainerd High School obtain entire control of these six columns free of charge and with no obligation whatsoever, excepting to make use of the offer to the best of the High School and the people of Brainerd.

Some of us who expected and would have preferred an independent publication need but to remember that it is far better to do a lesser thing right than to assume a greater task which might in time prove itself too great to finish. At the same time the publication of this sheet must not be compared to a small task that can easily be accomplished.

And what is more, it can not be accomplished by the twelve people representing the staff alone. We must have the help of the entire student-body. You have a person at the head of each news department because it is impossible for the editor to keep in touch with every individual in the school and ask each one separately what he or she thought would be interesting and desirable for publication. Each and every one of you must consider it your duty to see to it that everything of interest to the rest of the school, every incident regarding students or a member of the faculty, every occurrence either serious or humorous, is brought to the attention of some member of the staff. You will need no extraordinary literary ability, you need not be a 100 per cent English scholar or get a mark of 99 in your compositions; if you prefer to have someone else do the writing, tell us, and that part of the proposition will be attended to.

The respective staff members are already spending several hours each week toward editing this paper and will keep on doing this; but to do so in the spirit necessary to accomplish anything one undertakes, they want to see the entire school take interest in the paper and make it THEIR publication.

ENROLLMENT NOTES

The following statistics concerning the High School Enrollment should be of interest to every student. Remember them and boost the High School by being able to answer questions.

	Boys	Girls	Total
Freshmen	73	86	159
Sophomores	39	72	111
Juniors	35	57	92
Seniors	24	46	70

These 432 students as well as 60 Mixed Grade students who carry four High School subjects are divided into groups of 20 or more with a member of the faculty as advisor to each group. Although this system is new in Brainerd, it is an old arrangement among many schools of the state. The object is to enable the faculty to keep in closer touch with the students, assisting them in their work, and admonishing or encouraging them, as the case may be.

MORE GYM

No doubt the curiosity of many people has been aroused by the sight of groups of girls running madly through town during school hours. These seem to come in small divisions—a few far ahead—a few farther back trying to catch up—a few still farther back trying to catch up with them, and so on down to the feebly panting stragglers at the rear.

This work is part of the physical training given at the B. H. S. While the good weather lasts, all exercises are taken out of doors to get the benefit of the fresh air. Everyone is interested in the work. A few girls go ahead to blaze the trail—after them come the class learning the old Indian craft of following a trail. Sometimes the leaders get too zealous and go rather farther than the others would care to—for instance the N. P. Shops, to Boom Lake, S. E. Brainerd and even to the Cemetery.

As the class periods are only 45 minutes long, it can easily be seen that muscles and lungs are getting excellent training. The next time anyone sees a long blur moving twenty miles an hour down the street he can classify it as a Physical Ed. class that has just heard the bell for the next class.

UPPER CLASSMEN ENJOY THEIR FIRST PICNIC

Gilbert Lake was again duly honored when the very democratic Seniors, having flung their haughty demeanors to the winds, asked the socially ambitious Junior class to accompany them on their annual pilgrimage to its historic shores. Old Gilbert was in its element and beamed benignly on its pilgrims, doing its best to uphold its fame as a traditional haven for pleasure seekers.

The weather was ideal for a picnic and the sumptuous repast of wieners, potato salad, pickles, buns, coffee, and ice cream was dispatched by a crowd of 120 people in the great outdoors.

The camp-fire was admired by all for its warmth and beauty. When its last dying embers had sunk into blackened coals, the crowd repaired to the pavilion where a program of entertainment was carried out.

SOMETHING FOR YOU TO THINK ABOUT

The hope has been expressed not alone by the student-body, but also by the people interested in High School athletics, that Brainerd High School shall put teams on the field this year of which a city of Brainerd's size might well be proud.

This is a task that requires the whole-hearted support of both the students and the public. One of the main reasons for the poor showing of our athletic teams in years past was the lack of just this thing.

Brainerd is very fortunate this year in having Mr. Krueger as director of athletics. Coach Krueger was captain of the 1923 Hamline University football team, hence he is well versed in the knowledge of the game and the way it is played today. One of the handicaps with which he has to contend is the loss of practically the entire team of last season. Another obstacle is the small number of men answering the call for fresh recruits, prohibiting the forming of two teams for scrimmage. Nevertheless, the men who do come out regularly are entering into the spirit of the thing and are making progress toward putting a good team on the field. If we do lose most of this year's games, at least we will have the material for a strong "eleven" next year, as most of the men are under-graduates.

GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club has started its work for the following year under the direction of Miss Cora Rickard. There is an unusually large number of girls participating this year and Miss Rickard expects to develop a fine chorus. Some new sheet-music is expected to arrive soon which will greatly add to the interest of the work. Glee Club days have been set for Tuesday and Wednesday at 3:30.

Who, What and Where

With the co-operation of the Minnesota University we intend to publish in the near future a series of articles concerning the State University that should prove interesting and educational to every student.

News notes or any other contributions to this paper unless delivered directly may be deposited in the box under the bulletin board in the hall.

Watch our next issues for the Exchange List containing the names and notes of other High School publications.

Any and all suggestions toward the improvement of this sheet will be greatly appreciated.

You may expect the Brainonian in this very place one week from today.

Miss Eastman, teacher of Mathematics two years ago, was a Brainerd visitor over Sunday. Miss Eastman is now teaching at Wayzata.

Bernice White, '25, and Bernice Samuelson, '26, are the official stenographers of the Brainonian. Much credit is due them for the sacrifice of many valuable minutes.

Remember the following football dates:
Little Falls at Brainerd, Oct. 10th.
Brainerd at Crosby, Oct. 18th.
Staples at Brainerd, Oct. 25th.
Brainerd at Little Falls, Nov. 15th.

SOME NEWS FOR THE ALMA MATER

As the Alumni of Brainerd increases year by year it is impossible to say something about everyone. Some of the graduates have been hard to find, but the following list contains some of the ones that have been located:

Earl Engbretson, a graduate of '24 is employed in Milwaukee. Earl was one of our star basketball players. Otto Heikkinen, a graduate of '24 is in charge of the Standard Oil station in Brainerd. Otto was also a star in basketball.

Maysie Carmichael, a graduate of '24, is employed by the Brainerd Gas Company.

Aileen King and Marion Bachelder, both of the class of '24 are students at the St. Cloud Normal. There will be no doubt about their ability to teach when they finish.

Virgil Quansstrom, president of the class of '24, is surveying in and around Brainerd. "Wurgie" always liked something like that, anyway.

Marie Holmes, Dora VanAlstine, Grace Gordon, Myrtle Haake, Helene Buscher, Mabel McKay, Dagmar Nelson and May Fitzpatrick, all members of the class of '24, are attending the B. H. S. Normal. Marie and Dora wear their hair in curls. No one would think they were even attempting to be teachers.

Charles Hoffman and Joe Day, both of '24, are in the employment of the First National Bank. Though they do not look alike, they both shine forth as real business men.

Marie Branchaud, '24, is attending the Rochester School of Nursing. Marie was always giving us something. She used to give us orders, but now—maybe ether!

Roland Golemboski, '24, is driving Brainerd's new taxi. We suppose he is trying to make Brainerd look like Minneapolis or St. Paul.

A Romance of the Spanish Main CAPTAIN BLOOD by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

CHAPTER XXIII—Continued

"Perhaps it will be best," M. de Rivarol took up a paper. "Before going further, I have to observe that M. de Cussy has exceeded his instructions in admitting you to one-fifth of the prizes taken."

"That is a matter between yourself and M. de Cussy, my general."

"Oh, no. It is a matter between myself and you."

"Your pardon, my general. The articles are signed. So far as we are concerned, the matter is closed."

"But, nom de Dieu! It is your concern, I suppose, that we cannot award you more than one tenth share."

"You are quite certain of that, M. le Baron; that you cannot?"

"I am quite certain that I will not."

"In that case," said Blood, "it but remains for me to present my little account for our disbursement, and to fix the sum at which we should be compensated for our loss of time and derangement in coming hither. That settled, we can part friends, M. le Baron. No harm has been done."

"What the devil do you mean?"

"Is it possible that I am obscure?"

My French, perhaps, is not of the purest, but—

"Oh, your French is fluent enough; too fluent at moments, if I may permit myself the observation. Now, look you here, M. le Filibustier, you have accepted service of the King of France, you and your men. The first obligation of an officer is obedience. You are not to conceive yourselves, as you appear to be doing, my allies in the enterprises I have in view, but my subordinates. In me you behold a commander to lead you, not a companion or an equal."

"Oh, be sure that I understand," Captain Blood laughed. He was recovering his normal self amazingly under the inspiring stimulus of conflict. The only thing that marred his enjoyment was the reflection that, he had not shaved. "I forget nothing, I assure you, my general. I do not forget, for instance, as you appear to be doing, that the articles we signed are the condition of our service; and the articles provide that we receive one-fifth share. Refuse us that, and you cancel the articles, cancel the articles and you cancel our services with them. From that moment we cease to have the honor to hold rank in the navies of the King of France."

Captain Blood rose, his officers rose with him. Captain Blood bowed.

"M. le Baron!" said he.

"You shall be advised of my resolve," M. le Baron retorted.

That resolve proved to Captain Blood's way next official business brought these two together. Wolverstone was the cause of Captain Blood hunting audience with the admiral while he sat at dinner. The Old Wolf had retorted with his ready fist a mocking Frenchman's remarks and had been flung in jail. M. de Rivarol bade his visitor be admitted.

There entered now into his presence a spruce and modish gentleman, dressed with care and somber richness in black and silver, his swarthy, clear-cut face scrupulously shaven, his long black hair in ringlets that fell to a collar of fine point. In his right hand the gentleman carried a broad black hat with a scarlet ostrich plume, in his left hand an ebony cane. His stockings were of silk, a bunch of ribbons masked his garters and the black rosettes on his shoes were finely edged with gold.

"Your people have arrested the wrong man, M. de Rivarol," Captain Blood began. "Instead of the French officer, who used the grossest provocation, they have arrested Captain Wolverstone. It is a matter which I beg you to reverse without delay."

"Sir, you—you are insolent! But of insolence that is intolerable!"

"M. le Baron, you waste words. Justice is justice in the New World as in the Old. That justice I invite you, with submission, to administer."

"With submission?" snorted the baron in furious scorn.

"At the same time I will remind M. le Baron that my buccaneers number 800; your troops 500; and M. de Cussy will inform you of the interesting fact that any one buccaneer is equal in action to at least three soldiers of the line."

"You will do me the favor to wait in the ante-room, M. le Capitaine. I desire a word with M. de Cussy."

When the door had closed, the baron loosed his fury upon the head of M. de Cussy.

"So, these are the men you have enlisted in the King's service, the men who are to serve under me! What explanations do you offer me, M. de Cussy? I warn you that I am not pleased with you. I am, in fact, as you may perceive, exceedingly angry."

The Governor seemed to shed his chubbiness. He drew himself stiffly erect.

"M. le Baron, it was folly to have arrested the buccaneer captain. It would be madness to persist. We have not the forces to meet force."

M. de Rivarol condescended to be mollified. It was necessary that he should save his face.

"Very well," he said. "Be so good as to recall this Captain Blood."

The Captain came in, assured and very dignified. M. de Rivarol found him detestable; but dismissed it.

"M. le Capitaine, I have taken counsel with M. le Gouverneur. From what he tells me it is possible that a mistake has been committed. Your captain shall be released."

Captain Blood bowed.

"And now, sir, you have had the night for reflection in this matter of the articles. Am I to understand that you confirm or that you repudiate them?"

"I have considered that, too," he announced. "And whilst my opinion remains unaltered, I must confess that since M. de Cussy has pledged us, it is for us to fulfill the pledges. The articles are confirmed, sir."

Blood and his officers were summoned a week later to a council which sat to determine their operations against Spain. M. de Rivarol laid before them a project for a raid upon the wealthy Spanish town of Cartagena, which was rich in gold loot. Captain Blood professed astonishment. Sourly invited by M. de Rivarol to state his grounds for it, he did so with the utmost frankness.

"You mean, sir, that we are to sail across the Caribbean on an adventurous expedition, neglecting that which lies here at our very door. In our absence, a Spanish invasion of French Hispaniola is possible. If we begin by reducing the Spaniards here, that possibility will be removed. We shall have added to the Crown of France the most coveted possession in the West Indies."

Captain Blood laughed outright. He had suddenly read the Baron's mind. M. de Rivarol, intrigued by his mirth, scowled upon him disparagingly.

"Why do you laugh, monsieur?"

"Because I discover here an irony that is supremely droll. You, M. le Baron, General of the King's Armies by Land and Sea in America, propose an enterprise of a purely buccaneering character; whilst I, the buccaneer, am urging one that is more concerned with upholding the honor of France. You perceive how droll it is."

"M. le Filibustier," cried Rivarol in a thick voice, "it seems that I must again remind you that I am your superior officer."

"My superior officer! You! Why, you are just a common pirate! M. le Baron, I have the honor to wish you good-day."

He stalked out, and his three captains, although they thought him mad—rolled after him in loyal silence.

Nevertheless, it was to Cartagena that they sailed in the middle of March. Volunteers and negroes had brought up the forces directly under M. de Rivarol to twelve hundred men. With these he thought he could keep the buccaneer contingent in order and submissive.

They made up an imposing fleet, led by M. de Rivarol's flagship, the Victorieuse, a mighty vessel of eighty-guns. Each of the four other French ships was at least as powerful as Blood's Arabela, which was on forty guns. Followed the lesser buccaneer vessels, the Elizabeth, Lachesis, and Atropos, and a dozen frigates laden with stores, besides canoes and small craft in tow.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

CHAPTER XXIII—Continued

"Perhaps it will be best," M. de Rivarol took up a paper. "Before going further, I have to observe that M. de Cussy has exceeded his instructions in admitting you to one-fifth of the prizes taken."

"That is a matter between yourself and M. de Cussy, my general."

"Oh, no. It is a matter between myself and you."

"Your pardon, my general. The articles are signed. So far as we are concerned, the matter is closed."

"But, nom de Dieu! It is your concern, I suppose, that we cannot award you more than one tenth share."

"You are quite certain of that, M. le Baron; that you cannot?"

"I am quite certain that I will not."

"In that case," said Blood, "it but remains for me to present my little account for our disbursement, and to fix the sum at which we should be compensated for our loss of time and derangement in coming hither. That settled, we can part friends, M. le Baron. No harm has been done."

"What the devil do you mean?"

"Is it possible that I am obscure? My French, perhaps, is not of the purest, but—"

"Oh, your French is fluent enough; too fluent at moments, if I may permit myself the observation. Now, look you here, M. le Philibustier, you have accepted service of the King of France, you and your men. The first obligation of an officer is obedience. You are not to conceive yourselves, as you appear to be doing, my allies in the enterprises I have in view, but my subordinates. In me you behold a commander to lead you, not a companion or an equal."

"Oh, be sure that I understand," Captain Blood laughed. He was recovering his normal self amazingly under the inspiring stimulus of conflict. The only thing that marred his enjoyment was the reflection that he had not shaved. "I forget nothing, I assure you, my general. I do not forget, for instance, as you appear to be doing, that the articles we signed are the condition of our service; and the articles provide that we receive one-fifth share. Refuse us that, and you cancel the articles, cancel the articles and you cancel our services with them. From that moment we cease to have the honor to hold rank in the navies of the King of France."

Captain Blood rose, his officers rose with him. Captain Blood bowed.

"M. le Baron!" said he.

"You shall be advised of my resolve," M. le Baron retorted.

That resolve proved to Captain Blood's way next official business brought these two together. Wolverstone was the cause of Captain Blood hunting audience with the admiral while he sat at dinner. The Old Wolf had retorted with his ready fist a mocking Frenchman's remarks and had been flung in jail. M. de Rivarol bade his visitor be admitted.

There entered now into his presence a spruce and modish gentleman, dressed with care and somber richness in black and silver, his swarthy, clear-cut face scrupulously shaven, his long black hair in ringlets that fell to a collar of fine point. In his right hand the gentleman carried a broad black hat with a scarlet ostrich plume, in his left hand an ebony cane. His stockings were of silk, a bunch of ribbons masked his garters and the black rosettes on his shoes were finely edged with gold.

"Your people have arrested the wrong man, M. de Rivarol," Captain Blood began. "Instead of the French officer, who used the grossest provocation, they have arrested Captain Wolverstone. It is a matter which I beg you to reverse without delay."

"Sir, you—you are insolent! But of insolence that is intolerable!"

"M. le Baron, you waste words. Justice is justice in the New World as in the Old. That justice I invite you, with submission, to administer."

"With submission?" snorted the baron in furious scorn.

"At the same time I will remind M. le Baron that my buccaneers number 800; your troops 500; and M. de Cussy will inform you of the interesting fact that any one buccaneer is equal in action to at least three soldiers of the line."

"You will do me the favor to wait in the ante-room, M. le Capitaine. I desire a word with M. de Cussy."

When the door had closed, the baron loosed his fury upon the head of M. de Cussy.

"So, these are the men you have enlisted in the King's service, the men who are to serve under me! What explanations do you offer me, M. de Cussy? I warn you that I am not pleased with you. I am, in fact, as you may perceive, exceedingly angry."

The Governor seemed to shed his chubbiness. He drew himself stiffly erect.

"M. le Baron, it was folly to have arrested the buccaneer captain. It would be madness to persist. We have not the forces to meet force."

M. de Rivarol condescended to be mollified. It was necessary that he should save his face.

"Very well," he said. "Be so good as to recall this Captain Blood."

The Captain came in, assured and very dignified. M. de Rivarol found him detestable; but dissembled it.

"M. le Capitaine, I have taken counsel with M. le Gouverneur. From what he tells me it is possible that a mistake has been committed. Your captain shall be released."

Captain Blood bowed.

"And now, sir, you have had the night for reflection in this matter of the articles. Am I to understand that you confirm or that you repudiate them?"

"I have considered that, too," he announced. "And whilst my opinion remains unaltered, I must confess that since M. de Cussy has pledged us, it is for us to fulfill the pledges. The articles are confirmed, sir."

Blood and his officers were summoned a week later to a council which sat to determine their operations against Spain. M. de Rivarol laid before them a project for a raid upon the wealthy Spanish town of Cartagena, which was rich in gold loot. Captain Blood professed astonishment. Sourly invited by M. de Rivarol to state his grounds for it, he did so with the utmost frankness.

"You mean, sir, that we are to sail across the Caribbean on an adventurous expedition, neglecting that which lies here at our very door. In our absence, a Spanish invasion of French Hispaniola is possible. If we begin by reducing the Spaniards here, that possibility will be removed. We shall have added to the Crown of France the most coveted possession in the West Indies."

Captain Blood laughed outright. He had suddenly read the Baron's mind. M. de Rivarol, intrigued by his mirth, scowled upon him disapprovingly.

"Why do you laugh, monsieur?"

"Because I discover here an irony that is supremely droll. You, M. le Baron, General of the King's Armies by Land and Sea in America, propose an enterprise of a purely buccaneering character; whilst I, the buccaneer, am urging one that is more concerned with upholding the honor of France. You perceive how droll it is."

"M. le Philibustier," cried Rivarol in a thick voice, "it seems that I must again remind you that I am your superior officer."

"My superior officer! You! Why, you are just a common pirate! M. le Baron, I have the honor to wish you good-day."

He stalked out, and his three captains, although they thought him mad—rolled after him in loyal silence.

Nevertheless, it was to Cartagena that they sailed in the middle of March. Volunteers and negroes had brought up the forces directly under M. de Rivarol to twelve hundred men. With these he thought he could keep the buccaneer contingent in order and submissive.

They made up an imposing fleet, led by M. de Rivarol's flagship, the Victorieuse, a mighty vessel of eighty-guns. Each of the four other French ships was at least as powerful as Blood's Arabella, which was on forty guns. Followed the lesser buccaneer vessels, the Elizabeth, Lachesis, and Atropos, and a dozen frigates laden with stores, besides canoes and small craft in tow.

TO OBSERVE THEIR 20th ANNIVERSARY

H. F. Michael Co. to Signalize Event
by a Ten Days' Celebration

FIRM, CONSISTENT ADVERTISER
For 20 Years Have Run Daily
Change of Copy in The Dispatch

The H. F. Michael Company begins the celebration of their twentieth birthday on Wednesday. They make the announcement of the fact through a finely arranged full page advertisement on page 11 of this issue.

This announces that there will be unique features during this celebration. On September 16, 1904, the Dispatch carried the following news item which was the announcement of the opening of this store.

"A New Dry Goods Store, H. F. Michael, of Duluth, has Rented Grandmeyer Store and Will Open Shortly with a Complete New Line—The Gentleman has had Wide Experience in the Mercantile Business in the Cities."

"Brainerd is to have a new, up to date drygoods store. H. F. Michael, of Duluth, is in the city and has leased the Grandmeyer store building on Front street and about October 15 will open up with a complete new line of drygoods, including a suit department.

"Mr. Michael is making arrangements for fixtures which will be the finest in the city and will leave in a day or two for the east to select his stock.

"Mr. Michael has had a wide experience in the mercantile business, having spent the past five years in the best stores in St. Paul and Duluth, and he is a hustler."

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Cases Include Liquor Charge, Claiming Man Made Sick by Imbibing

In municipal court Tuesday morning William Eibes was arraigned, charged with selling intoxicating liquor to Martin Haefner and Louis Lunde. Eibes plead not guilty and his case was continued until three o'clock.

The liquor had a very serious effect on Haefner, making him so ill that he was taken to Northwestern hospital on Monday afternoon. He was improved this morning to the extent that he was able to leave the hospital.

Roy Phelps and Florence Belleau were arraigned on a fornication charge. On motion of the county attorney the case against Phelps was dismissed, and the case against the other defendant continued until October 8th.

Frank Patrick and Nora Campbell, charged with adultery were arraigned. They waived examination and were bound over to the next general term of the district court, bonds in each case being set at $800.

WORK FOR PRIZE

Whittier School Children Aim to Secure 100 Magazine Subscriptions

Pupils of the Whittier school last week worked for 100 subscriptions to the Northwest Health Journal in order to win for their building a Fairbanks school scale. They went over the top Friday night with 105 subscriptions, showing what team work will do and giving proof of enterprising citizens in the making.

Witte-Mons

Miss Anna Mons and Charles Witte were quietly married in St. Paul on Tuesday, Sept. 30th.

Miss Marguerite Henry and John Henry both of Minneapolis acted as bridesmaid and best man.

The young couple are spending a weeks honeymoon with relatives and friends in this city, and after Oct. 12th will be at home to their many friends at 5336 33rd street, Detroit, Michigan.

Mr. Witte is employed by the Department of Street Railways of Detroit as conductor.

Both parties are well known in Brainerd, it being their old home town.

Methodist Aid

The ladies of the Methodist church will meet in the church basement on Wednesday afternoon, October 8th, at three o'clock.

The entertaining ladies are Mrs. George Lowe, Mrs. O. Skauge and Miss Franklin. Members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

Vaudeville, Pictures at Lyceum Tonight and Wednesday

The great Del-a-phone, vaudeville attraction, will be at the Lyceum tonight and Wednesday. He has toured the United States and Europe several times and has played Keith's, Pantages and Orpheum vaudeville circuits. He is considered one of the greatest mimics in the world.

He will also present an Oriental novelty act entitled "Fun in a Chop Suey Cafe," in which Jeanette Lorraine creates many surprises and laughable situations, forming one of the funniest acts in vaudeville.

In making a run from Bemidji to St. Cloud, they had two days open and will thus appear at the Lyceum, before opening their Canadian tour. They are being presented in addition to the Lyceum's feature picture program, all at regular prices.

Just a Word

Doubtless you have heard something about the new Dry Goods Store that is soon to be opened in this city. If all plans materialize the ladies of Brainerd and vicinity, will have the opportunity of purchasing from us about October 15th. We have spent the last two weeks in the very best markets, selecting what we believe will be, a stock of Dry Goods, Ladies' Coats, Suits and Furs, such as has never been seen in this city before.

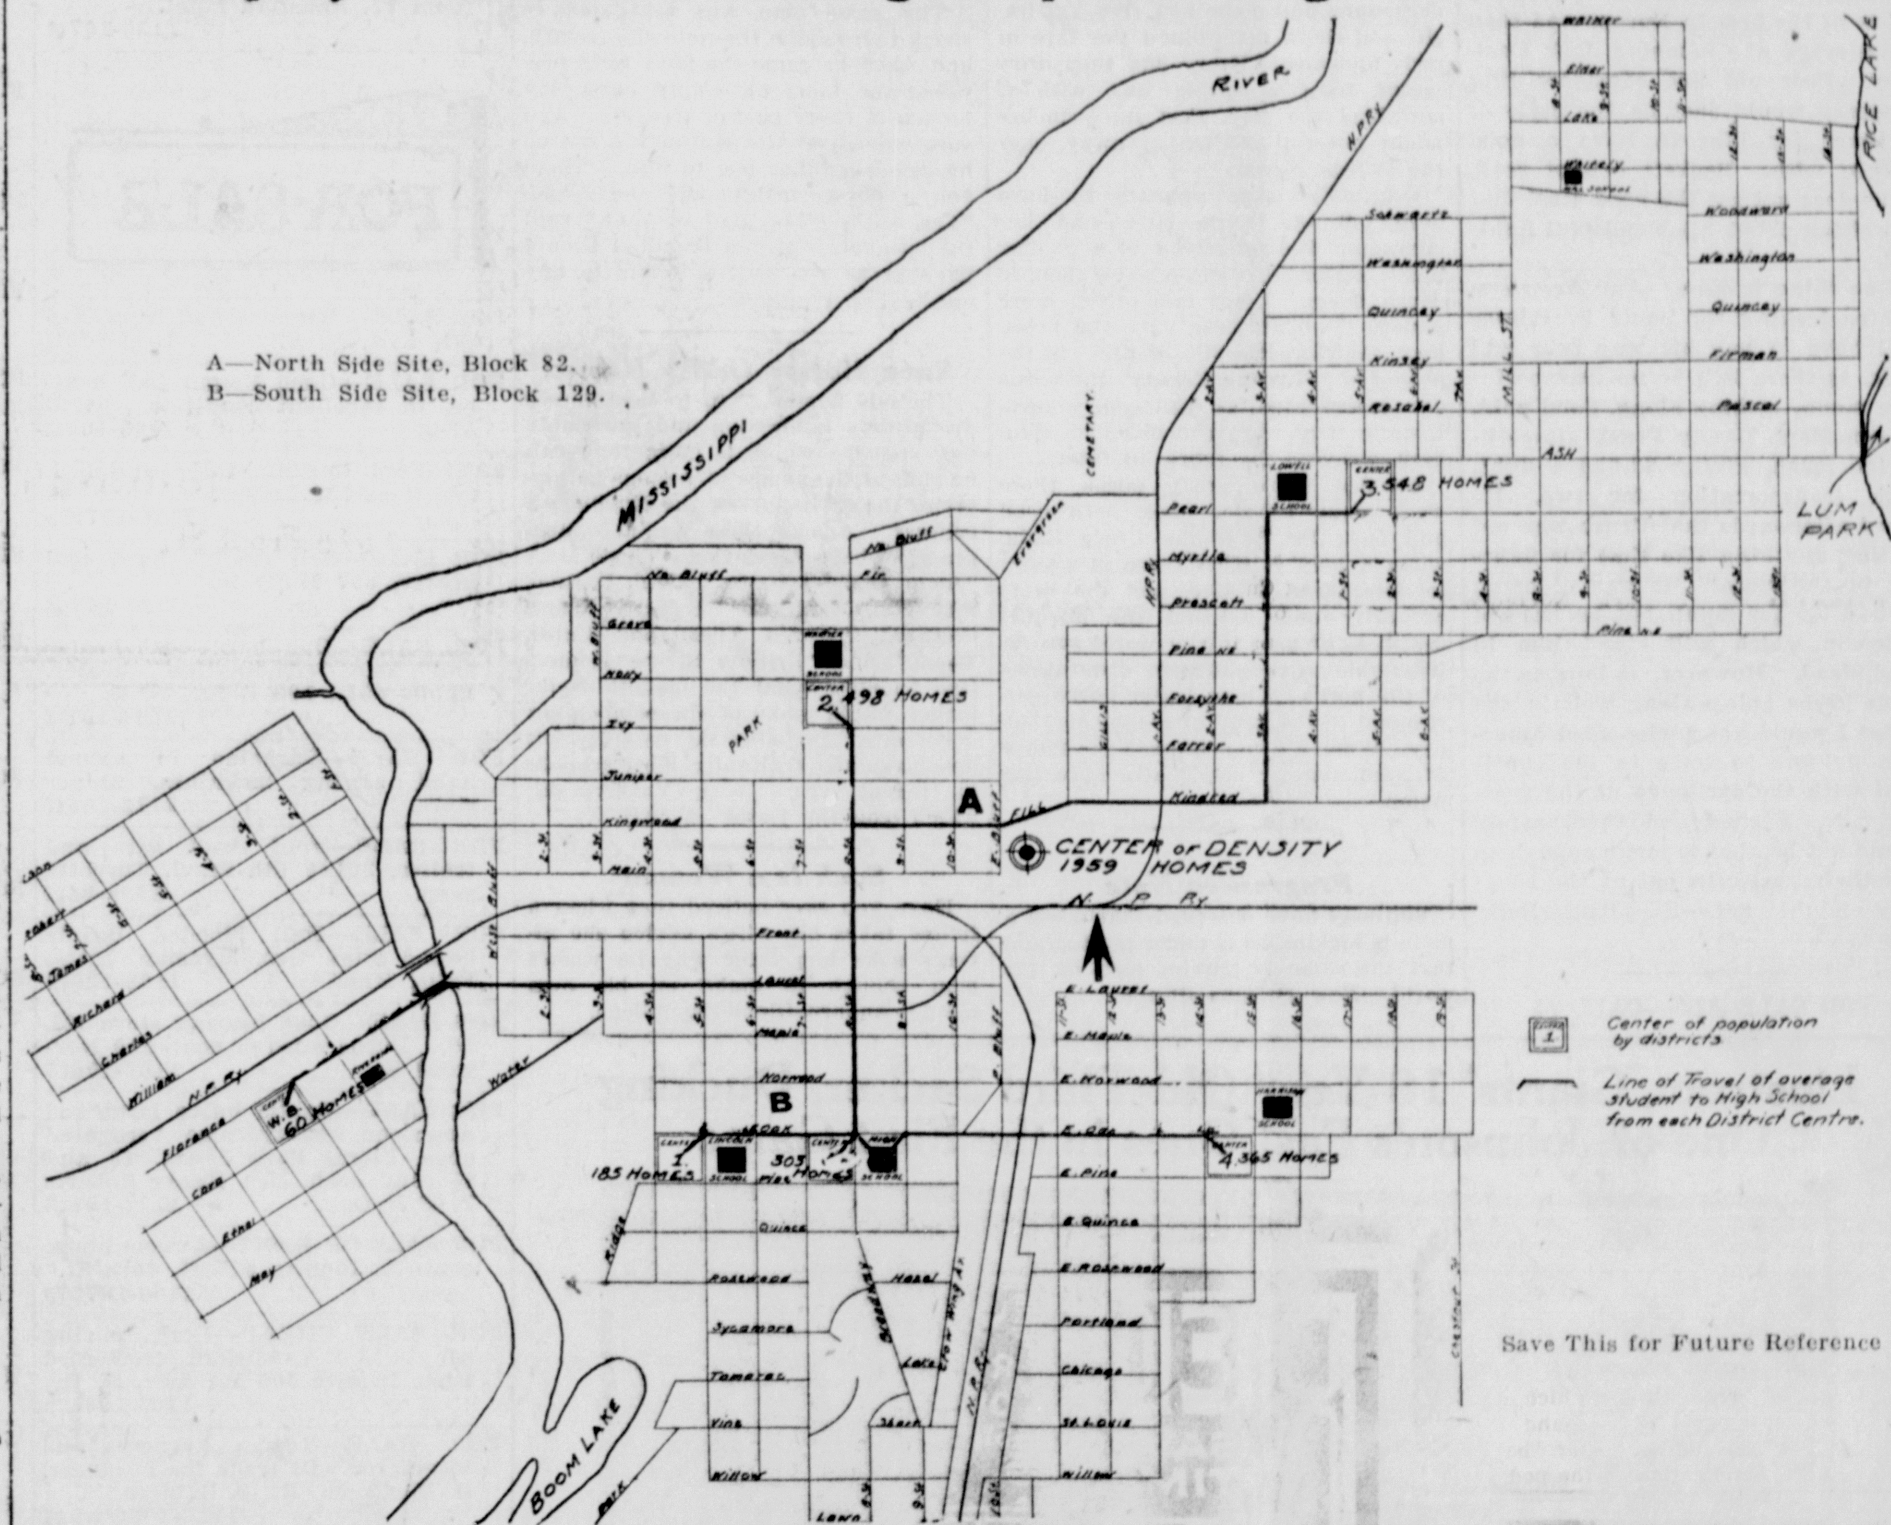

Watch this space every day as it will contain news that style loving and economical women will be highly interested in. Monday's news will be particularly interesting.

To the Voters of the City of Brainerd:

The school board has submitted two sites to be voted upon as a location for the new high school. We, the residents of N. E. Brainerd, justly believe that there is but one of the two sites which should be selected with justice to all, and we ask that all voters lay aside all prejudice and carefully consider the situation in the interest of fair play which we believe every resident of our city is desirous of giving. We believe that site bounded by Kingwood, N. Tenth, Juniper and Bluff, marked A (block 82) on the map, to be the best located site for the following reasons:

FIRST: It is by far the most central of the sites submitted and the most central that it is possible to select. Study the map; count the blocks; this alone reveals the fact. Then a careful study of the population shows the fact that the real center of density of population is where the athletic park is established. In fairness to all sections of our city a site should be selected as nearly as possible in the center of our city's population.

We of Northeast Brainerd have for years had to travel over one and one-half miles from the center of our population (near Lowell school) to our high school while the longest distance traveled by any other of the heavier populated sections is only slightly over a half mile. This new site would make it possible for practically all high school pupils to go to their homes for lunch which is highly desirable. And again there are 1,046 homes north of the N. P. main line track and only 913 south of the track.

SECOND: The portion north of the tracks has the greatest number of high school pupils and by far the smallest school facilities.

At present, the second ward has 109 pupils and the third ward 104 pupils in the high school making a total of 213 pupils. The first ward has 35, the fifth ward has 75 and the fourth ward has 82, making a total of 192 pupils on the south side of the tracks in the high school. This fact, coupled with the other that the south side of the tracks now has 42 school rooms distributed as follows: Washington Building 20, outside of the 5 rooms in basement; Lincoln 9; Harrison 10; and Riverside 3, while the total on the north side of the tracks is 24, there being 8 at the Whittier, 14 at the Lowell and 2 at the Garfield school, urges us to appeal to the fairness of all voters in asking if that portion lying north of the tracks with its large high school enrollment does not merit the added school facilities.

THIRD: The development of the third ward towards the paper mill district is constant and will unquestionably maintain its balance of building which will keep the center of density of population practically where it is today. No other section of our city shows more building activity.

FOURTH: The Northern Pacific railroad has always been fair to any proposition put up by the citizens of Brainerd. If they are shown the necessity of an underneath crossing at about 12th street (shown by the arrow), an arrangement doubtless can be made for such a crossing. This would bring Southeast Brainerd, Northeast Brainerd and the North Side to the school without the crossing of the tracks. The south and west sides alone would find it necessary to cross the tracks at any point.

FIFTH: By locating the school at the site A only a portion of the south side and west side would find it necessary to send the pupils through the down town sections to and from school. This is a feature which many parents would heartily approve.

SIXTH: The site "A" would be removed from the business district and its future encroachments. Site "B" (block 129) bounded by South Sixth, South Seventh, Oak and Norwood will, if business moves as it has in recent years, soon be surrounded by business houses. This is far from desirable. On the other hand, site "A" has ample facilities for athletic activities besides being in the residential section and the ground could be made much more attractive. This is a feature which should interest every section of our city.

SEVENTH: Site "B" was submitted because the school board now owns one fourth of the block, but it is in a district where lots are expensive. Site "A" could be acquired for much less money. Most certainly it would cost taxpayers less. The lots at site "B" could be sold.

EIGHTH: It should be considered that there are but seven blocks south of the site "B" to the end of the populated district while it is 34 blocks to the northeast Garfield school, and several more blocks to the homes of many from this section who attend the high school. A block, including the width of the street, is 380 feet, so that the high school at site "B" would be over two and one-half miles from the homes of the mill district.

In view of these facts, the residents of Northeast Brainerd ask the serious consideration of all the voters of Brainerd. We do not want our children to be unjustly penalized. We have no other interest in a high school site than that it be at the most central point. In this we believe the majority of voters will agree. We believe all want to be fair, hence our appeal to you to vote for the most central site, block 82.

TO OBSERVE THEIR 20th ANNIVERSARY

H. F. Michael Co. to Signalize Event
by a Ten Days' Celebration

FIRM, CONSISTENT ADVERTISER

For 20 Years Have Run Daily
Change of Copy in The Dispatch

The H. F. Michael Company begins the celebration of their twentieth birthday on Wednesday. They make the announcement of the fact through a finely arranged full page advertisement on page 11 of this issue.

This announces that there will be unique features during this celebration. On September 16, 1904, the Dispatch carried the following news item which was the announcement of the opening of this store.

"A New Dry Goods Store, H. F. Michael, of Duluth, has Rented Grandmeyer Store and Will Open Shortly with a Complete New Line—The Gentleman has had Wide Experience in the Mercantile Business in the Cities."

"Brainerd is to have a new, up to date drygoods store. H. F. Michael, of Duluth, is in the city and has leased the Grandmeyer store building on Front street and about October 15 will open up with a complete new line of drygoods, including a suit department."

"Mr. Michael is making arrangements for fixtures which will be the finest in the city and will leave in a day or two for the east to select his stock."

"Mr. Michael has had a wide experience in the mercantile business, having spent the past five years in the best stores in St. Paul and Duluth, and he is a hustler."

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Cases Include Liquor Charge, Claiming Man Made Sick by Imbibing

In municipal court Tuesday morning William Eibes was arraigned, charged with selling intoxicating liquor to Martin Haefner and Louis Lunde. Eibes plead not guilty and his case was continued until three o'clock.

The liquor had a very serious effect on Haefner, making him so ill that he was taken to Northwestern hospital on Monday afternoon. He was improved this morning to the extent that he was able to leave the hospital.

Roy Phelps and Florence Belleau were arraigned on a fornication charge. On motion of the county attorney the case against Phelps was dismissed, and the case against the other defendant continued until October 8th.

Frank Patrick and Nora Campbell, charged with adultery were arraigned. They waived examination and were bound over to the next general term of the district court, bonds in each case being set at $800.

WORK FOR PRIZE

Whittier School Children Aim to Secure 100 Magazine
Subscriptions

Pupils of the Whittier school last week worked for 100 subscriptions to the Northwest Health Journal in order to win for their building a Fairbanks school scale. They went over the top Friday night with 105 subscriptions, showing what team work will do and giving proof of enterprising citizens in the making.

Witte-Mons

Miss Anna Mons and Charles Witte were quietly married in St. Paul on Tuesday, Sept. 30th.

Miss Marguerite Henry and John Henry both of Minneapolis acted as bridesmaid and best man.

The young couple are spending a weeks honeymoon with relatives and friends in this city, and after Oct. 12th will be at home to their many friends at 5386 33rd street, Detroit, Michigan.

Mr. Witte is employed by the Department of Street Railways of Detroit as conductor.

Both parties are well known in Brainerd, it being their old home town.

Methodist Aid

The ladies of the Methodist church will meet in the church basement on Wednesday afternoon, October 8th, at three o'clock.

The entertaining ladies are Mrs. George Lowe, Mrs. O. Skauge and Miss Franklin. Members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

UNITY LODGE

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION

Unity Lodge No. 194 I. O. O. F. has planned a series of interesting meetings, beginning tomorrow evening.

A school of instruction is to begin and this no doubt will prove very interesting to the younger members as well as to the most of the older ones. One degree will be taken up each evening, the work explained and this to be followed by a general discussion.

A refreshment committee also starts a program of eats and Unity lodge is off for the fall and winter sessions.

Presbyterian Aid

The ladies aid of the Presbyterian church will meet on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Purdy, 703 Oak street. The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. L. Hohman, Sr., Mrs. M. E. Morison and Mrs. Harry Belmuth. A large attendance is desired. Visitors are cordially welcome.

Each member kindly bring her thimble, needle and scissors.

TWO CHAMPS PASS; OTHERS ON THE WAY SPAIN CLAIMS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 7.—Two ring champions, who were sitting with the might of the ring this time last year, have passed on. Joe Lynch went in the orthodox manner when he was defeated by Abe Goldstein and dropped his bantamweight championship. Johnny Dundee went out by the novel method of resigning as the featherweight champion.

The list of dethroned champions was spared of several more entries because the titleholders refused to fight.

Mike McGigue, who beat the colored Battling Siki in Dublin on St. Patrick's Day and became the world's light heavyweight champion, retained his title by fighting in the safe territory of the no-decision lands. Mike was given one good beating by Young Stripling in Newark, but the referee didn't have the authority to hold up a hand and Mike left with his title, a good purse, and a nice "shiner."

Pancho Villa, the flyweight champion, avoided the loss of his title by taking a deliberate run-out on Frankie Genaro, the little American champion, who had beaten him three times before he won the title. Villa was lucky in winning the championship, because he was one step ahead of Genaro in getting a fight with the feeble Jimmy Wilde, and he is retaining the title by keeping one step ahead of little Frankie in a fast run.

Benny Leonard didn't lose his lightweight championship. He didn't fight. He did have one bout with Pal Moran in Philadelphia, but he didn't make the weight and he busted a finger that caused him to blow $150,000 by being "forced" to call off the scheduled fight with Mickey Walker.

NEW RING GIANT

DEMPSEY CAN NOW CHEER UP
—A NEW Foe HAS BEEN FOUND

Paris, Oct. 7.—Boxing had an inning at Bayonne, which is down in the south of France, near Biarritz, on Sept. 7, the main bout being between the former Spanish bull fighter Paolino, who is now the heavyweight champion of Spain, and the English champion heavyweight, Frank Goddard. The fight was scheduled for 15 rounds. The English champion managed to stick out about five and a half rounds, then he was put to sleep by a series of body punches and a tattoo of rights and lefts to the head.

Paolino is a tough battler, but he knows nothing much about boxing. He is a young fellow, and if he had some good American expert to handle him he could be made the real goods. The fights at Bayonne were handled by Promoter Solal of Paris, the French Tex Rickard. The attendance was about 8,000, therefore the entertainment turned out a good paying investment.

Joe Beckett, the former champion of Great Britain, who has been knocked out so many times and who, after being flattened by Georges Carpentier in a few seconds, announced his retirement from the game, threatens to again throw his castor into the ring. He said he retired but only for the time being. What he wants to do he states is to whip a few of the best in Europe and then try a crack at Champion Jack Dempsey. Poor old Joe considers that Dempsey would just be the style of a boxer for him to have a good chance with. Beckett cannot read, so he does not see the good stuff that is written about his wonderful fighting.

One thing is sure. Any American fighter looking for bouts in France will have to pay his way over and back, as there will be no transportation money coming along. Solal paid, he considers, Danny Frush altogether too much, giving $3,000 a fight, with transportation for two. He heard afterwards that Frush was not getting anything like that for fighting in the states. It was a losing proposition for Solal, but he learned a lesson which will stand him in good stead. However, as long as the game keeps going along well in the states I would not advise good American fighters to come to the continent with the exchange at the present rate. Second and third raters would not be able to make enough to pay their feed bills out of the bouts they might get.—St. Paul Daily News.

Norns in Mythology
Wove Fabric of Fa.

Norns were the fates of Scandinavian mythology. They were three young women, by name Urth, Verdand and Skuld—past, present and future. They sat by the well of Urdarbrunnr under the ash tree Yggdrasil, and there determined the fate of gods and men. Every day they drew water from a spring and with it sprinkled the tree, that its branches might not rot and wither away, says the Detroit News.

Originally there appears to have been but one norn—Urth—and her character was conceived in a gloomy night, making her often equivalent to death doom. Later two others were added. Two of these gave the blessings, the third the ills of life. In the legend of "Sleeping Beauty" the norns are represented as thirteen women. Usually they were conceived as spinners, weaving the fabric of fate.

Besides these great norns there were many inferior ones, both good and bad; for, says the Norse Edda, when a man is born there is a norn to determine his fate, and the same authority tells us that the unequal destinies of men in the world are attributable to the different dispositions of the norns. These lesser norns correspond to the gent of classic mythology. Women who possessed the power of prediction or magic also bore this name.

Champion Mean Man

A wealthy man visited a school and gave an address. When he was through he called a little boy up to him and said, "My lad, have you a purse?" "No, sir," "I'm sorry," said the rich man. "If you had I'd have given you half a dollar to put into it." The same man was scheduled to speak there again the following month, and when he came the boys were prepared for him; an empty purse lay hidden in every pair of trousers. And sure enough at the end of his speech he called another boy to him. "Have you a purse, little man?" he asked. "Yes, sir," "I'm glad of that," said the speaker. "If you hadn't, I should have given you half a dollar to buy one."—The Pathfinder.

Race Horses Oddly Named

The odd names given to race horses are always interesting and invariably have reason, which is more than can be said of the names of famous gallies of the early part of the Nineteenth century. Among these quaint names are recorded: "Jack Come Tickle Me," "Jenny Come Tye Me," "I Am Little-Pity My Condition," "Sweeter When Clothed," "Watch Them and Catch Them," and "Britons Strike Home." One wonders what the modern book-maker would make of these labels on a hot day. Probably the name which has given the fraternity most trouble in recent years was Volodyovski, which won the Derby in 1901.

SQUIRE EDGE GATE—A Hazardous Existence

TWO CHAMPS PASS; OTHERS ON THE WAY SPAIN CLAIMS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 7.—Two ring champions, who were sitting with the might of the ring this time last year, have passed on. Joe Lynch went in the orthodox manner when he was defeated by Abe Goldstein and dropped his bantamweight championship. Johnny Dundee went out by the novel method of resigning as the featherweight champion.

The list of dethroned champions was spared of several more entries because the titleholders refused to fight.

Mike McTigue, who beat the colored Battling Siki in Dublin on St. Patrick's Day and became the world's light heavyweight champion, retained his title by fighting in the safe territory of the no-decision lands. Mike was given one good beating by Young Stribling in Newark, but the referee didn't have the authority to hold up a hand and Mike left with his title, a good purse, and a nice "shiner."

Pancho Villa, the flyweight champion, avoided the loss of his title by taking a deliberate run-out on Frankie Genaro, the little American champion, who had beaten him three times before he won the title. Villa was lucky in winning the championship, because he was one step ahead of Genaro in getting a fight with the feeble Jimmy Wilde, and he is retaining the title by keeping one step ahead of little Frankie in a fast run.

Benny Leonard didn't lose his lightweight championship. He didn't fight. He did have one bout with Pal Moran in Philadelphia, but he didn't make the weight and he busted a finger that caused him to blow $150,000 by being "forced" to call off the scheduled fight with Mickey Walker.

The rules of Chinese cookery are very clearly defined and demand great attention to the smallest detail. For every dish the meats and the vegetables must always be cut into small pieces of uniform size.

NEW RING GIANT

DEMPESEY CAN NOW CHEER UP
—A NEW FOE HAS BEEN FOUND

Paris, Oct. 7.—Boxing had an inning at Bayonne, which is down in the south of France, near Biarritz, on Sept. 7, the main bout being between the former Spanish bull fighter Paolino, who is now the heavyweight champion of Spain, and the English champion heavyweight, Frank Goddard. The fight was scheduled for 15 rounds. The English champion managed to stick out about five and a half rounds, then he was put to sleep by a series of body punches and a tattoo of rights and lefts to the head.

Paolino is a tough battler, but he knows nothing much about boxing. He is a young fellow, and if he had some good American expert to handle him he could be made the real goods. The fights at Bayonne were handled by Promoter Solal of Paris, the French Tex Rickard. The attendance was about 8,000, therefore the entertainment turned out a good paying investment.

Joe Beckett, the former champion of Great Britain, who has been knocked out so many times and who, after being flattened by Georges Carpentier in a few seconds, announced his retirement from the game, threatens to again throw his castor into the ring. He said he retired but only for the time being. What he wants to do he states is to whip a few of the best in Europe and then try a crack at Champion Jack Dempsey. Poor old Joe considers that Dempsey would just be the style of a boxer for him to have a good chance with. Beckett cannot read, so he does not see the good stuff that is written about his wonderful fighting.

One thing is sure. Any American fighter looking for bouts in France will have to pay his way over and back, as there will be no transportation money coming along. Solal paid, he considers, Danny Frush altogether too much, giving $3,000 a fight, with transportation for two. He heard afterwards that Frush was not getting anything like that for fighting in the states. It was a losing proposition for Solal, but he learned a lesson which will stand him in good stead. However, as long as the game keeps going along well in the states I would not advise good American fighters to come to the continent with the exchange at the present rate. Second and third raters would not be able to make enough to pay their feed bills out of the bouts they might get.—St. Paul Daily News.

AGE-OLD PROBLEMS ARE SOLVED

NOVEL CLINIC CONDUCTED BY KANSAS MENTAL HYGIENE SOCIETY

THE "INFERIORITY COMPLEX" CAUSES MUCH UNHAPPINESS

(By United Press)
Topeka, Kan., Oct. 3.—Problems that have worried and perplexed all sexes an all ages ever since the domestic difficulties of Adam and Eve are being solved at the "habit clinic" for children conducted here by the Kansas Mental Hygiene Society.

For instance there is the run-away boy, the lazy boy, the suspicious wife who is constantly accusing her husband of infidelity, the cruel husband, the backward school child, the professional complaining invalid, the daughter who quarrels with her mother, the girl who insists upon staying at home of her chum every night, the youth who steals money from his father, the habitual drunkard, and the man who doesn't "feel like work."

Solves Problems

These and many others with many and diverse afflictions are weekly visitors at the "habit clinic." Dr. Karl A. Menninger, psychiatrist, declares diagnosis and treatment of children will remedy conditions which contribute to a large per cent of the unhappiness of individuals and families in later life.

Things are not exactly as they should be or the Topeka clinic, the only one of its kind in this part of the country, would not have been established, Dr. Menninger said.

Needed More Enzymes

If John developed into a grouchy, morose, dyspeptic, people tap their heads and murmur, "Poor boy, he should have had more iron and enzymes when he was a baby."

When John throws a fit of jealousy and murders his wife because she smiled at the ice man his action is termed "pure cussedness."

Whereas if "Poor John" had gone to a mental clinic when he was a child he might have been cured of his mental habits and his tragedy in later life averted, the experts reason.

The clinic deals in crime and neuro-psychiatric cases largely, but it is making a small beginning in the mental habit work with children.

Physical Examinations

Children are sent to dental clinics, are weighed, and measured periodically and have their eyes, ears, noses and throats examined.

One of the greatest contributing mental factors to failure and unhappiness, Dr. Menninger believes, is the inferiority complex. This feeling.

By MILDRED C. GOODRIDGE

"BLUNDERHEAD!" angrily expostulated the bookkeeper of Ransom & Co.
"Look before you leap, Danny," in sweet solacing contrast followed the tones of the office stenographer, Nellie Deane.
"Wish I could. Guess I'll go stumbling through life just this same old way!" groaned Danny Skiles. "Wish you was my sister. I'd get out of here if it wasn't for you—yes, I would."

The electric button on the desk of the stenographer sounded an appeal just then. It was from Mr. Ransom's office. Hastily Nellie swept into a drawer—or rather fancied she swept into it—several pages of a letter she had been writing to her sister. One of the sheets, however, had slipped unnoticed over the edge of the desk and had fallen among a vast litter on the floor beside it.

Danny had precipitated the overflow of the waste-paper basket only a few seconds previously. He had stumbled over it in the exercise of that extraordinary ability of his to deserve the common nickname of "Blunderhead." Danny was simply chronically irremediably clumsy. When he raised a window he generally smashed it. When he moved a chair he usually tipped it over. When he ran to attend to some urgent office call he stumbled over a rug or the linoleum.

"Dat that bookkeeper!" muttered Danny with a dagger's look at crusty old Collins. "As to Sweetie—that's what I call her and that's just what she is—if I ever amount to anything it will be her kind ways to me that did it. She's pretty as a picture and good as gold. Yes, and I'll bet the boss knows it!" chuckled Danny wisely.

If "the boss," young Alden Ransom, knew it, however, he had spoken no word to convey the impression to his really competent stenographer. It was true that many times, even as just now, when Nellie sat in his private office taking dictation, it had been a relief from business cares and a positive pleasure to look at the delicate, expressive face of the young girl and appreciate her buoyant accommodating ways and quick intelligence. If there was the dawning of love in the companionship, however, it was on the part of Nellie herself. In fact, she had just written the fact to her sister. And because she felt a growing fondness for her kindly indulgent employer she had decided to sever a tie that it might be difficult to break later on, by leaving the pleasant employ of Ransom & Co.

Meanwhile Danny had gathered up the letter on the floor of the main office and was cogitating over the great precept of wisdom that Miss Deane had sought to inculcate.

"Look before you leap," Danny repeated the axiom. "That fits me. Sweetie is a good adviser and I'm going to adopt that as my motto."

Danny picked a sheet of paper from the floor.

BIG BEAR was an institution in Tyler. For five years he had been as much a part of Doctor Wharton's household as the watch dog, the family horse, or the chickens. In fact, Big Bear spent most of his time with these domesticated pets. He slept upstairs in the barn in winter, under a shady tree in the garden in summer and was a trusty sentinel, a swift obliging messenger and the loyal and devoted adherent of the doctor and his little family, especially pretty Claribel, just budding into perfect womanhood.

"He's like some faithful dog," remarked a townsman to the town marshal.

"He is certainly 'a good Indian,'" was the hearty reply—"never drinks or fights, makes me no trouble. In fact, when some of the halfbreeds float into town and try to get into a rumput, he quietly persuades them to go on their way."

"Well, he ought to feel grateful towards Wharton. Poor old Doc! Times

Corn to Mature in Short Season

We Already Have Varieties Requiring High Temperatures While Growing.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The "synthetic" development of a variety of corn that will grow and mature under conditions of short season and cool weather will be attempted by the corn investigators of the United States Department of Agriculture from a collection of 200 sample varieties of corn brought to the department by Frederick D. Richey, agronomist in charge of corn investigations, who has just returned from an exploration trip through the Andean highlands of South America in company with R. A. Emerson of Cornell university.

Varieties Mature in Short Season.

"We already have varieties of corn in this country that will mature in short season," said Mr. Richey, "but they require high temperatures during the growing season. They are suitable for certain localities along the northern edge of the corn belt, but there are other places in the Northwest, as in Idaho, Montana and Wyoming, where the temperatures are low as well as the seasons short, and we hope to be able to develop a variety that will make corn growing in these sections a safe enterprise. DANNY ADOPTS the waste-paper basket, folded it, took a stub of a pencil from his pocket and proceeded to diligently and laboriously place the appealing axiom upon its surface. He stowed the folded paper in his pocket as if it were some valued talisman and an unfailing remedy against blundering.

More than once during the rest of the day Danny consulted his creed. Then that night when he went to bed, he found he had learned his motto by heart and took out the sheet of paper to place it in a bureau drawer when he chanced to open it.

"Whew!" he ejaculated as he perused the inside of the sheet. "Why, it's part of a letter Sweetie has written to some relative or friend and—whillikens! she's in love with the boss."

Yes, that was certain. Miss Deane had written to her sister that Mr. Ransom had attracted her as never any man before. But she realized that gulf between them, showed due humility in not construing his little acts of kindness into any marked attentions and was going to seek another position.

"Why, if she leaves Ransom & Co. I'm—lost!" wailed Danny. "Say, if she could marry the boss! Wish I was a matchmaker. What'll I do?"

This was as to the letter. Danny decided he would think things over before he said anything about it. Then came the crisis of Danny's life, and the "Blunderhead" of the office situation became a star character and hero.

Danny earned only four dollars a week and had to pay some board at home at that. This did not admit of any banquets. The week before he had bought a small bunch of violets to place on the desk of Miss Deane. She had scolded him severely, but Danny was proud to think he could spend fifty cents to show his devotion to the kindest friend he had ever known.

For the present week, therefore, Danny was wont to take his meals at a cheap beanery. There were items on the bill of fare that ran from four to seven cents. One evening he had to remain at the office overtime to stamp some mail. Six o'clock found him hungry with half an hour's work still undone. Danny went out for a bite. As he passed down a court running along the side of the building where the office was located, he noticed that the light in the room of the boss had been extinguished and the boss himself was just approaching his automobile, the only one in the solitary court.

Then there occurred something that made Danny think of a rapid moving picture show, it was all done so quickly. Three men had suddenly leaped from a dark doorway. One sprang to the chauffeur's seat. Two others advanced upon Mr. Ransom. They threw a long coat over his head, lifted him into the machine, stifled his cries and away dashed the auto.

"Kidnaped! Just like in the movies!" gasped the petrified Danny. In a flash he was after the speeding machine. As he ran an inspiration came to him. He drew out his big jackknife that was his constant companion, caught at the knob of the baggage box and clung there.

The automobile followed the court, then an alley and then curved into a public street. It was here that Danny got ready for business.

He made a desperate lunge at the nearest rear wheel. Blade-deep through outer and inner sheathings of rubber went the knife. There was a hiss, then a frightful report. The chauffeur caught the warning sound. The auto sidled on a menacing slant. Danny sprang free, yelled for the police, the car was surrounded and "the boss" was rescued.

Mr. Ransom took Danny back to the office with him after the police had secured the kidnapers, who it appeared had set in motion the first section of a deep blackmailing plot.

"There's something else," said Danny, when the greater part of his story had been told—"there's Sweetie."

"Ah! what about Miss Deane, now?" questioned the young business man, with every token of deep interest.

And Danny produced the letter sheet. His eye sparkled as he knew what he had long hoped—that Miss Deane cared particularly for him. And then rather amusedly he read the scrawled words Danny had written: "Look before you leap."

"Mr. Ransom," observed Danny fervently, "that's my motto, but you don't have to look before you leap if you're thinking about Sweetie. She's all gold, just like yourself!"

Markets for Poultry

Farm people are always a busy people, but they are not usually so busy that they cannot spare the time to find good markets for their poultry and poultry products. You can often realize a few cents per pound more for the cockerels by selling to some hotel, restaurant, or cafeteria than by disposing of them on the regular market. Of course, if you live close to a city this will be a very simple matter, but you can often find places in even a small town where you can receive premiums for quality produce.

DANNY ADOPTS

the waste-paper basket, folded it, took a stub of a pencil from his pocket and proceeded to diligently and laboriously place the appealing axiom upon its surface. He stowed the folded paper in his pocket as if it were some valued talisman and an unfailing remedy against blundering.

More than once during the rest of the day Danny consulted his creed. Then that night when he went to bed, he found he had learned his motto by heart and took out the sheet of paper to place it in a bureau drawer when he chanced to open it.

"Whew!" he ejaculated as he perused the inside of the sheet. "Why, it's part of a letter Sweetie has written to some relative or friend and—whillikens! she's in love with the boss."

Yes, that was certain. Miss Deane had written to her sister that Mr. Ransom had attracted her as never any man before. But she realized that gulf between them, showed due humility in not construing his little acts of kindness into any marked attentions and was going to seek another position.

"Why, if she leaves Ransom & Co. I'm—lost!" wailed Danny. "Say, if she could marry the boss! Wish I was a matchmaker. What'll I do?"

This was as to the letter. Danny decided he would think things over before he said anything about it. Then came the crisis of Danny's life, and the "Blunderhead" of the office situation became a star character and hero.

Danny earned only four dollars a week and had to pay some board at home at that. This did not admit of any banquets. The week before he had bought a small bunch of violets to place on the desk of Miss Deane. She had scolded him severely, but Danny was proud to think he could spend fifty cents to show his devotion to the kindest friend he had ever known.

For the present week, therefore, Danny was wont to take his meals at a cheap beanery. There were items on the bill of fare that ran from four to seven cents. One evening he had to remain at the office overtime to stamp some mail. Six o'clock found him hungry with half an hour's work still undone. Danny went out for a bite. As he passed down a court running along the side of the building where the office was located, he noticed that the light in the room of the boss had been extinguished and the boss himself was just approaching his automobile, the only one in the solitary court.

Then there occurred something that made Danny think of a rapid moving picture show, it was all done so quickly. Three men had suddenly leaped from a dark doorway. One sprang to the chauffeur's seat. Two others advanced upon Mr. Ransom. They threw a long coat over his head, lifted him into the machine, stifled his cries and away dashed the auto.

"Kidnaped! Just like in the movies!" gasped the petrified Danny.

In a flash he was after the speeding machine. As he ran an inspiration came to him. He drew out his big jackknife that was his constant companion, caught at the knob of the baggage box and clung there.

The automobile followed the court, then an alley and then curved into a public street. It was here that Danny got ready for business.

He made a desperate lunge at the nearest rear wheel. Blade-deep through outer and inner sheathings of rubber went the knife. There was a hiss, then a frightful report. The chauffeur caught the warning sound. The auto sidled on a menacing slant. Danny sprang free, yelled for the police, the car was surrounded and "the boss" was rescued.

Mr. Ransom took Danny back to the office with him after the police had secured the kidnapers, who it appeared had set in motion the first section of a deep blackmailing plot.

"There's something else," said Danny, when the greater part of his story had been told—"there's Sweetie."

We Celebrate Our 20th Birthday October 8 to 18

Another year has rolled round, and this week we celebrate our 20th Birthday. We are doing it with very special values that will appeal to every woman and girl who loves fashion-right apparel and all the fascinating accessories for which this store has won a reputation.

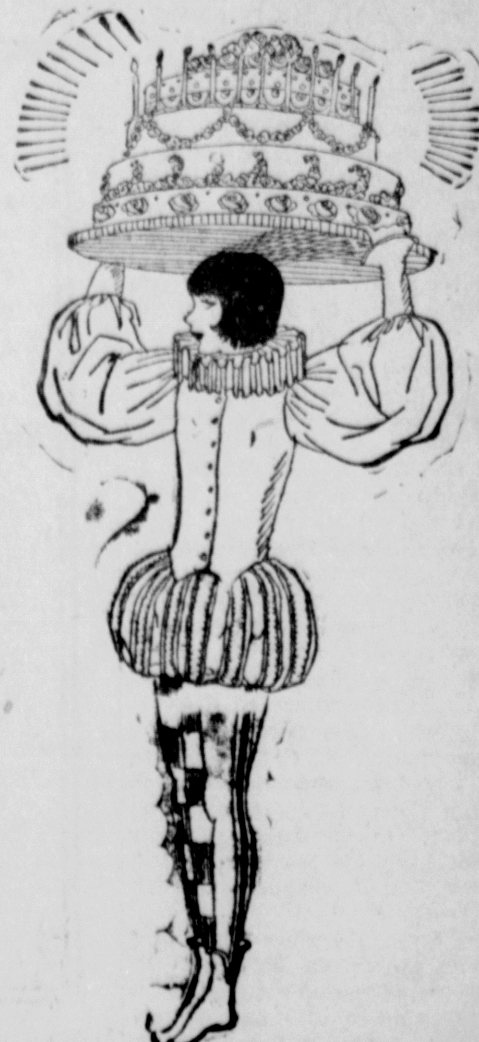

Looking back to our years of service to you, we are glad to know ourselves better able today than ever before, to understand your needs and supply them to your satisfaction. We hope that each coming birthday may find us still more firmly established in your confidence. We want to thank you for your loyal patronage and to invite you to take full advantage of the unusual values we offer during our birthday week.

Your Slice of Our Birthday Cake

Watch our windows as well as this paper every day to be sure that you get your share of the big Birthday Cake we are cutting--in the form of notable price cuts on up-to-the-minute things such as are needed by every woman. Isn't it fortunate that we celebrate just at this time of the year, when your wardrobe needs so many additions to make it style-right for the new season.

Every Department Holds a Gift for You

Take your shopping pad and your pencil and jot down all the things you really need at this season, bring it to our store with you and permit us to show you how reasonable we can supply those needs.

Some Wonderful Values in the Pretty New Coats

We told you, some weeks ago, how thoroughly we searched the New York market for the best in coats. Now they are here, and how beautiful they are. Here are the youthful styles for the girls and little women; the very, very excellent styles with such wonderful lines for those who wear the medium sized garments and the styles for those who wear sizes above 40; those coats which do not look their sizes.

Children's Coats, $4.50 to $10.95

Sizes 3 to 8. We have most interesting styles and values.

Girls' Coats, $5.50 to $19.95

Sizes 8 to 14. Coats which "little ladies" delight to wear.

Misses' Coats, $10.00 to $20.00

These garments have the style features which please the miss.

Little Women's Coats, $15.00 to $95.00

This is the line we specialize in. Wonderful styles for little women.

Average Size Coats, $17.95 to $100.00

Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42. For those who wear regular sizes. A large selection.

For Sizes Above 40, $19.95 to $65.00

For those who are hard to fit. We show coats up to size 50.

Dresses which will Quickly Win Your Admiration

These dresses are more than a quickly gotten together combination of silk or wool materials with trimmings or buttons sewed on.

You'll find in these dresses the prettiest practical styles shown in the late Fashion magazines. And more, you'll not bother with the making of your dresses when you see how reasonable they are priced. We heartily invite you to see these dresses.

Girls' Dresses, $3.95 to $10.50

Sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14. Made of pretty wool materials at a small cost.

Misses' Dresses, $7.75 to $16.75

Those pretty attractive styles which so strongly appeal to the girls.

Little Women's Dresses, $12.50 to $60

Made for those who cannot use the regular dress sizes.

Average Size Dresses, $12.50 to $65.00

These are the regular 36, 38, 40 and 42 sizes. A beautiful showing of these.

Large Size Dresses, $12.50 to $60.00

Perhaps the hardest of all sizes to secure. These sizes up to 48. We have found it necessary for women to try on these dresses to get a proper idea of what they are. So we ask that those who are interested to come prepared to try them on.

Dress Goods for the Home Dressmaker

POULTRY

MAMMOTH BRONZE IS MOST FAVORED FOWL

The Bronze turkey is the best all-round variety in the opinion of most breeders, as shown by its great popularity and the wide expanse of territory over which it is raised by the thousands. This breed was developed by crossing the wild North American birds with the Black turkey. The Black variety may refer to specimens selected from the wild flocks or it may refer to the Blacks reared so long in England and known as the Black Norfolk. It is said that this variety has been greatly improved by crossing with the Mammoth Bronze.

Going still farther back E. Richardson of California, a writer of turkey history, says the turkey was introduced into England from Mexico by Cortez and his followers, about the year 1524, five years after the first specimens had been sent to Spain by the discoverer and general made famous by the "Conquest of Mexico." This is from the writings of Prescott the historian. Richardson traces the name from the Tamil (Hindeo) word "toikan," meaning "peacock" (which was one of the early names given by the Spaniards to the American bird) to "tukki," the Hebrew translation, and through that channel into the English "turkey."

George Enty, describes this bird very graphically when he says: "I can conceive of nothing more ornamental, taken all in all, than a stately wild gobbler, with his beard almost touching the turf, his wide-spread tail with its black bars and rich chestnut edging, his trailing wings, the crimson and blue coloring of head and neck and all the colors of sky and sea, and autumn leaves glistening upon each feather—such a bird and its half-dozen mates strutting about the lawn and shrubbery of a gentleman's grounds. Such a sight would take the mind of the busy city resident back to his childhood on the farm; or—if so unfortunate as to have been born in a town—back to his father's or mother's childhood, as often related to him."

MAMMOTH BRONZE IS MOST FAVORED FOWL

The Bronze turkey is the best all-round variety in the opinion of most breeders, as shown by its great popularity and the wide expanse of territory over which it is raised by the thousands. This breed was developed by crossing the wild North American birds with the Black turkey. The Black variety may refer to specimens selected from the wild flocks or it may refer to the Blacks reared so long in England and known as the Black Norfolk. It is said that this variety has been greatly improved by crossing with the Mammoth Bronze.

Going still farther back E. Richardson of California, a writer of turkey history, says the turkey was introduced into England from Mexico by Cortez and his followers, about the year 1524, five years after the first specimens had been sent to Spain by the discoverer and general made famous by the "Conquest of Mexico." # BROUGHT BACK BRICKS OF GOLD haven't been going any too good with him of late."

"I hear that. The family is poor, they say. That bright girl of his has been compelled to go clerking in a store to keep the pot boiling. I learn. Well, that shows she is made of the right stuff."

"Especially when she might have married half a million with that grandson of old Reuben Waite."

"Mistake—that's just what she couldn't do. The old miser broke up the match and Ellis Waite, his grandson, has nothing of his own. The old man threatened to disinherit him if he married. The young fellow was of the right sort. He just packed up his duds and left home. He's working somewhere west of here as a station agent. Some day he'll come back and claim his bride."

"Where did the doctor run across Big Bear, anyway?" inquired the townsman.

"Over across the divide. It seems that the old chief had a wild son who got desperate and vicious after the Indian agents got about all the land they had away from them. He had a terrible fight with some gamblers and killed two of them. They strung him up. The doctor found a mere spark of life in him after they had cut him down where the old chief was mourning him. Secretly the doctor revived him. He got safely out of the district and to an Indian school. He developed into a remarkably bright fellow. He is studying in Paris now and a credit to his old father."

"The old man don't seem to have much stir about him in the Indian fighting way."

"He had once, and that is a strange story. Doctor Wharton told me about it. It seems that when the son was shipped away secretly the chief gave him a great satchel filled with gold. Then he went to the doctor. 'I make you rich,' he said. 'I have a mine—all gold. You save my son—I not forget.' Well, in about a week back comes Big Bear. He had no gold. He was all bruised and beaten up. There was a great gash in his skull. All his old fire was gone. It appeared that he had met his bitterest enemy, one Lone Wolf. They had a terrible fight. The skull blow had affected the brain of Big Bear. He seemed to have forgotten about his mine. Like a faithful dog he took up his home with the doctor and has been with him ever since."

The story passed out of the mind of the marshal almost immediately for he had a busy day before him on the morrow. A wild west show was coming to town and the experienced official knew that this event was likely to call in all the cowboys and rougher element of the district for a characteristic good time.

There was to be a procession and it came about with a band of music in the lead, then a dozen mounted cowboys and half that number of real Indians. The sight was only moderately attractive to the townspeople, for cowboys and Indians were no novelty to them.

On the present occasion, however, there was an incident added not anticipated and more tragic and sensational than the fiercest play episode on the program.

Big Bear had sat on a railing like others casually reviewing the procession. Of a sudden as a big brawny brave mounted on a mustang came into view, there rang from his usually placid lips a hair-raising yell:

"Lone Wolf!"

"Hold him!"

"He's gone mad!"

It seemed as though in a flash some stirring impulse had reawakened in the chief all the long dormant ferocity of his nature.

Electrified, he sprang to his feet. An ear-splitting war whoop left his lips. Then like a bloodhound he reached the middle of the street in four tremendous bounds.

With a spring he landed against the painted brave on the mustang. He tore him from the saddle. Both fell to the street. There, rolling over and over in a frightful fist battle, they seemed like two rabid wolves, intent only in ending a struggle of desperate strife and hatred in death.

Big Bear was foaming at the mouth, his eyes glared with fury. His enemy was armed, however, and he was not. At his belt the show Indian carried a short stone-headed bludgeon. He managed to free one hand. The murderous weapon cut through the air and Big Bear sank back with a groan, his head and face deluged with blood.

His assailant, grim, gruff, taciturn, refused to make any explanation. The marshal had to admit that Big Bear was the first assailant. The show people of course defended their member.

"It must have been a sudden fit of frenzy," said Doctor Wharton, but two days later, after the show had passed on to another town, he was further startled and troubled.

Big Bear, under his surgical charge, had disappeared in the night.

Then a week later he reappeared. There was a lively new intelligence in his face. Four rangers, rifle-armed, guarded the closed wagon in which he rode.

"Ugh, good doctor!" he cried exultingly, as he drove up to the house of the physician. "No more trouble for little Claribel and gold for you, my friend—gold! gold!"

"Strange, wasn't it?" the next day spoke the marshal to a friend.

"About Big Bear?" was the response. "Why, it's like a romance. They say he has come back with whole bricks of gold."

"Pretty near that, and more in sight."

"How was it, marshal? I haven't heard the whole story."

"Why, it seems that the Indian he attacked beat and robbed him at the time his wits left him. Big Bear recognized him in the procession. The second blow knocked Big Bear right again. He remembered all the past, suddenly his forgotten gold mine. Now he will provide well for the good old doctor, and as to pretty Claribel, why, she will have more money than miserly old Waite now."

"And there will be a wedding?"

"That's sure!" nodded the marshal with greatunction and approval.

Of the Same Family

Bullbat is a local name given to the nighthawk. Both the nighthawk and whippoorwill are nightjars. The markings on the throat of the nighthawk make it easily distinguished from the whippoorwill. This white mark is shaped like the letter V, a broad white bar, which extends across the first primary wing feathers. This is plainly visible when the bird is near by and flying.

Lucky Criminals

The Braganza, one of the largest diamonds in the world, was found by three criminals, who had been sent into exile among the cannibal tribes and wild beasts in the Brazilian interior. They took the stone to a priest, who turned it over to the governor. The gem became the glory of the crown jewels of Portugal, and the king, in gratitude, pardoned the exiles.

The story passed out of the mind of the marshal almost immediately for he had a busy day before him on the morrow. A wild west show was coming to town and the experienced official knew that this event was likely to call in all the cowboys and rougher element of the district for a characteristic good time.

There was to be a procession and it came about with a band of music in the lead, then a dozen mounted cowboys and half that number of real Indians. The sight was only moderately attractive to the townspeople, for cowboys and Indians were no novelty to them.

On the present occasion, however, there was an incident added not anticipated and more tragic and sensational than the fiercest play episode on the program.

Big Bear had sat on a raffling like others casually reviewing the procession. Of a sudden as a big brawny brave mounted on a mustang came into view, there rang from his usually placid lips a hair-raising yell:

"Lone Wolf!"

"Hold him!"

"He's gone mad!"

It seemed as though in a flash some stirring impulse had reawakened in the chief all the long dormant ferocity of his nature.

Electrified, he sprang to his feet. An ear-splitting war whoop left his lips. Then like a bloodhound he reached the middle of the street in four tremendous bounds.

With a spring he landed against the painted brave on the mustang. He tore him from the saddle. Both fell to the street. There, rolling over and over in a frightful fist battle, they seemed like two rabid wolves, intent only in ending a struggle of desperate strife and hatred in death.

Big Bear was foaming at the mouth, his eyes glared with fury. His enemy was armed, however, and he was not. At his belt the show Indian carried a short stone-headed bludgeon. He managed to free one hand. The murderous weapon cut through the air and Big Bear sank back with a groan, his head and face deluged with blood.

His assailant, grim, gruff, taciturn, refused to make any explanation. The marshal had to admit that Big Bear was the first assailant. The show people of course defended their member.

"It must have been a sudden fit of frenzy," said Doctor Wharton, but two days later, after the show had passed on to another town, he was further startled and troubled.

Big Bear, under his surgical charge, had disappeared in the night.

Then a week later he reappeared. There was a lively new intelligence in his face. Four rangers, rifle-armed, guarded the closed wagon in which he rode.

"Ugh, good doctor!" he cried exultingly, as he drove up to the house of the physician. "No more trouble for little Charibel and gold for you, my friend—gold! gold!"

"Strange, wasn't it?" the next day spoke the marshal to a friend.

"About Big Bear?" was the response. "Why, it's like a romance. They say he has come back with whole bricks of gold."

"Pretty near that, and more in sight."

"How was it, marshal? I haven't heard the whole story."

"Why, it seems that the Indian he attacked beat and robbed him at the time his wits left him. Big Bear recognized him in the procession. The second blow knocked Big Bear right again. He remembered all the past, suddenly his forgotten gold mine. Now he will provide well for the good old doctor, and as to pretty Charibel, why, she will have more money than miserly old Waite now."

"And there will be a wedding?"

"That's sure!" nodded the marshal with great unction and approval.

Of the Same Family

Bullbat is a local name given to the nighthawk. Both the nighthawk and whippoorwill are nightjars. The markings on the throat of the nighthawk make it easily distinguished from the whippoorwill. This white mark is shaped like the letter V, a broad white bar, which extends across the first primary wing feathers. This is plainly visible when the bird is near by and flying.

Lucky Criminals

The Braganza, one of the largest diamonds in the world, was found by three criminals, who had been sent into exile among the cannibal tribes and wild beasts in the Brazilian interior. They took the stone to a priest, who turned it over to the governor. The gem became the glory of the crown jewels of Portugal, and the king, in gratitude, pardoned the exiles.

MORE COW-TESTING ASSOCIATION WORK

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A detailed report of cow-testing association work in the United States and of the increase in number of associations will not be due until January 1, 1925; but figures now on file in the Bureau of Dairying, United States Department of Agriculture, indicate that on July 1, 1924, there were about 730 cow-testing associations in active operation, as against 627 a year ago. This is a gain of over a hundred during the past year, or a gain within the year of a little more than 16 per cent.

Though there was some increase in the number of associations in many states, the big gains were in a few states. Those having the largest actual increases are given in the following table:

State	Number of Asso.	1923	1924	Incr.
Michigan	53	91	38
Minnesota	55	90	35
Iowa	47	61	14
Wisconsin	151	163	12
Kentucky	10	20	10
South Dakota	4	10	6

Michigan ranks first in increased number of associations with a gain of 38, but Minnesota is a close second with a gain of 35. Wisconsin still leads in the number of associations, but Michigan and Minnesota are gaining on Wisconsin. Iowa, Kentucky, and South Dakota are also making substantial gains.

This increase in the number of cow-testing associations is very encouraging. It means that year by year more of our dairy cows are being placed on yearly test. More testing means more economical production, and more economical production benefits both the producer and the consumer.

Not Profitable to Feed Dairy Calf Whole Milk

It is readily recognized that at present prices of dairy products, dairy calves cannot be fed economically on whole milk over a long period. It is also true that approximately 45 per cent of the dairy cows in the United States are found on farms producing whole milk for condenseries, cheese factories, powdered milk factories and for the market milk trade. On these farms the milk brings a high price; in many cases $3 to $4 a hundred pounds—sometimes more.

A calf requires an average of about 15 pounds of whole milk a day until four months old. This amounts to 1,800 pounds. If valued at even such a low price as $3 a hundred, the milk alone costs $54. This does not include the cost of hay and grain consumed in addition to the milk.

Farmers making a business of selling whole milk do not have skim milk for feeding purposes and the common practice is to kill the bull calves at once or sell them for veal. Unfortunately, too often the heifer calves are also disposed of in the same way. In such cases the herd must be replenished by buying mature cows.

CORN TO MATURE
IN SHORT SEASON

will have to be done, not by the mere introduction of foreign varieties, but by crossing and combining the ability of our native corn to mature in a short season with the ability of the South American corn to mature at low temperatures."

Most of the samples brought back by Mr. Richey were found growing at altitudes of from 7,000 to 11,000 feet, and some as high as 12,000 feet in the mountains of Bolivia and Peru. Corn matures in these altitudes in a climate which is 20 degrees colder than that of this country. Thus, Mr. Richey found native varieties growing and maturing in spite of an average temperature for the year of 50 degrees F., while the average minimum temperature during the growing season was as low as 39 degrees. In our corn belt an average minimum of 55 degrees night temperature is considered the limit. The average temperature during the entire growing season is 72 degrees. The season for the corn crop in these southern countries is from 120 to 180 days, while a few varieties in the northern edge of our own corn belt mature in 80 days.

Experiments in Peru.

On the trip through Peru Mr. Richey

had the opportunity to observe varieties of corn from our own country growing in comparison with native corn. These experiments were on the farms of the Urso mission near Calca, Peru, under the direction of T. E. Payne, who is in charge of the mission. All of the United States varieties there were of a yellowish-green color, and did not look healthy, said Mr. Richey, while the native varieties were dark green and healthy. Like-wise varieties from Peru which have previously been tried in the United States have not done well here. It is not possible, therefore, to introduce these South American sorts as such and expect them to be adapted to the conditions of our corn belt. The problem is rather one of crossing and breeding, in which the characteristics of the varieties instead of varieties as a whole are considered. The development of the desired varieties will be a long time-proposition, but the investigators are encouraged to believe in the ultimate success of the venture by the results obtained in other experimental work with corn at the department.

The development of a variety of corn that will grow and mature at a low temperature in short seasons will enable many areas in the United States to grow corn, where the crop will be of value not only for itself but because of its use in rotation.

CORN TO MATURE
IN SHORT SEASON

will have to be done, not by the mere introduction of foreign varieties, but by crossing and combining the ability of our native corn to mature in a short season with the ability of the South American corn to mature at low temperatures."

Most of the samples brought back by Mr. Richey were found growing at altitudes of from 7,000 to 11,000 feet, and some as high as 12,000 feet in the mountains of Bolivia and Peru. Corn matures in these altitudes in a climate which is 20 degrees colder than that of this country. Thus, Mr. Richey found native varieties growing and maturing in spite of an average temperature for the year of 50 degrees F., while the average minimum temperature during the growing season was as low as 39 degrees. In our corn belt an average minimum of 55 degrees night temperature is considered the limit. The average temperature during the entire growing season is 72 degrees. The season for the corn crop in these southern countries is from 120 to 180 days, while a few varieties in the northern edge of our own corn belt mature in 80 days.

Experiments in Peru.
On the trip through Peru Mr. Richey

had the opportunity to observe varieties of corn from our own country growing in comparison with native corn. These experiments were on the farms of the Urso mission near Calca, Peru, under the direction of T. E. Payne, who is in charge of the mission. All of the United States varieties there were of a yellowish-green color, and did not look healthy, said Mr. Richey, while the native varieties were dark green and healthy. Like-wise varieties from Peru which have previously been tried in the United States have not done well here. It is not possible, therefore, to introduce these South American sorts as such and expect them to be adapted to the conditions of our corn belt. The problem is rather one of crossing and breeding, in which the characteristics of the varieties instead of varieties as a whole are considered. The development of the desired varieties will be a long time-proposition, but the investigators are encouraged to believe in the ultimate success of the venture by the results obtained in other experimental work with corn at the department.

The development of a variety of corn that will grow and mature at a low temperature in short seasons will enable many areas in the United States to grow corn, where the crop will be of value not only for itself but because of its use in rotation.

EASILY UNDERSTOOD

After the amateur theatrical, the leading man was receiving congratulations from a friend.

"How did you enjoy the show?" he asked.

"It was simply great," was the enthusiastic reply. "Why, the way you acted Hamlet, anybody could see why Ophelia went crazy and drowned herself."—Santa Barbara News.

A Qualification

Malsie—When Tom proposed to me three years ago I refused him, and he said it would be the death of him.

Kittie—Well, that's not so, for he proposed to me last night and I accepted him.

"He must have meant a living death."

One Yard

Rastus was sporting proudly a new shirt when a friend asked: "Boy, how many yards does it take for a shirt like that?"

Rastus replied: "Say, man, Ah got three shirts like this outa one yard last night."—Everybody's.

Quite True

"Now, then, Passamaquoddy, what's a dead letter?"

"Oons, Trimalchio, that be one that you give to your roommate to mail."—Brown Jug.

WHEN SHE LISTENS

Habby—You never listen to a word I say.

Wife—I do so. You talk in your sleep a lot, and I listen for every word.

Better When It's in You

"I like soup,"

Said Mister Witt,

"But I don't like

To be in it."

In the Old Days

Blinks—I often was entertained with comic pictures long before the movies came along.

Jinks—Yes, I, too, often spent an evening with a girl who would entertain me with the old family album.

That Is Quite Natural

Salesman—Madam, you will sink nearly out of sight in the luxurious cushions in this new car.

Lady (decisively)—No; when I ride in a new car I want to be plainly visible.—London Tit-Bits.

Between Girls

Ann—You should have seen how terribly foolish he looked when he proposed to me.

Maud—No wonder, when you consider the terribly foolish thing he was doing.

His Preference

Billy—They asked me if I'd have some bread and butter to finish up with.

Mother—And what did you say?

Billy—That I'd rather have some cake to be going on with.

IT WAS

Woodpecker—What the heck kind of a pole is this anyway? It must be that iron wood I've heard about.

Turned to Butter

The dairymaid pensively milked the goat.

And, pouting she paused to mutter: "I wish you brute, you'd turn to milk!"

And the animal turned to butter.

The Follies Girl at Home

"Lend you ten dollars, Midge? But I thought you were fixed."

"Not for a while yet. This year's breach of promise suit is dragging horribly."

Reciprocity

Howell—I am willing to spend money if the other fellow does.

Powell—In other words, your money talks, but waits until it is spoken to.

he says, is often developed by thoughtless parents, ignorant of psychology, who constantly tell a child he is worthless, dumb or slow, or who make derogatory comparisons of him with other children of the neighborhood.

Parents Could Learn

Dr. Menninger asserted parents could also learn much at habit clinics.

The clinic does much with children to help them overcome jealousy, tantrums of temper, obstinacy and lying destructiveness.

Mental illness in a family is the cause of divorce and of the upset of homes, Dr. Menninger declares. A prerequisite to sane living is a healthy mind, he said.
